Charles Franklin Mosser

HARLES FRANKLIN MOSSER was born on November 14, 1867, in the City of Allentown, Pa. His father, William F. Mosser, was a well-known, highly respected and successful business man, and his mother was Louisa (Seiberling) Mosser, who, as well as her husband, was connected with the best families in Lehigh County.

Mr. Mosser received a common school education which he completed in 1885, when he entered his father's iron foundry and went through a three year's apprenticeship in the machinshop. He was married April 16, 1890, to Miss Flora Bohlen. In January 1903, upon the death of his father, he became owner of the foundry and machinshop, keeping in connection with the firm, Mr. John Greenall, under which from seventy-five to one hundred men find constant employment.

Mr. Mosser is a member of St. John's Lutheran Church, in which he has served as deacon and elder, and has been a Trustee of Muhlenberg College since 1906, and has served all of that time on the Executive Committee. When Muhlenberg College was planning to buy additional land for her Preparatory School, Mr. Mosser generously volunteered and presented to the College his check in payment of over fifteen acres of ground adjoining the college property.

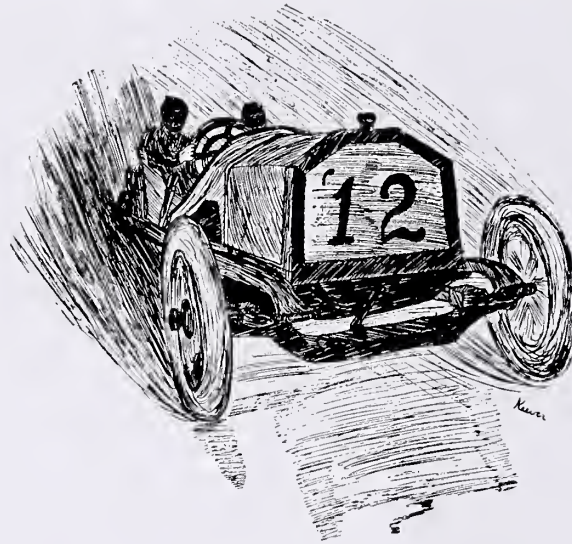

Mr. Mosser is well beloved by his friends for his straight-forward frankness, his sincerity, his liberality, his kindness, in which no service is too much, and through which he is ever ready to help and aid. He is a man of sterling worth and high business principles and presents the best type of progressive business-man in our community.

* Wertz resigned March 17.
 Henninger succeeded Wertz.
 Brossman elected as third Business Mgr. Feb. 8.

Henry Melchior Muhlenberg

Henry Melchior Muhlenberg, D. D.

ENRY MELCHIOR MUHLENBERG, known as the “Patriarch of the Lutheran Church of America” was born at Eimbeck, Hanover, September 6, 1711. Among the first students, he entered Gottingen in 1735, graduating three years later.

While teaching at Orphan House, Halle, during the following year, he was marked for service as a foreign missionary in India. While there he accepted the call of the “United Congregations” in Pennsylvania. After visits to London and Georgia, to familiarize himself with the English and American relations he arrived at Philadelphia, November 25, 1742.

The people he found had been sadly neglected, scattered, without church buildings or even regular organizations, without schools and at the mercy of imposters claiming to be pastors. He awakened new activity at once. From then until his death, at The Trappe, Oct. 7, 1787, he was occupied with the organization of congregations and the various interests and agencies of the Lutheran Church, as well as in diligent pastoral ministrations.

His travels, in looking after the scattered people, extended from Northern New York to Georgia, while his influence and efforts through correspondence had a much wider range.

Muhlenberg gave to the congregations a model of a constitution, which has been followed in most of the congregations of the General Synod, General Council and many other congregations. He was the founder of the first synod for which the Church in Germany gave him few precedents. He was the author of the first liturgy of 1748 and wrote the preface for the hymn-book of 1786. In order to reach the hearts of all men he spared himself no labor to master the languages and sometimes preached in three tongues on one Sunday.

Appreciating the importance of training American pastors for American congregations he purchased ground for a seminary as early as 1749.

His only book the “Defence of Pietism” was written in 1741.

Muhlenberg was married to a daughter of the distinguished Indian agent, Conrad Weiser. He received the degree D. D. from the University of Pennsylvania. Dying Oct. 7, 1787, he was buried alongside of the venerable Trappe church.

Muhlenberg was of deep religious conviction, of extraordinary apostolic zeal for the spiritual welfare of individuals, of every absorbing devotion to his calling. These traits were combined with an intuitive penetration and extended width of view, a statesmanlike grasp of every situation and an almost prophetic foresight, coolness, discrimination of judgment and peculiar gifts for organization and administration.

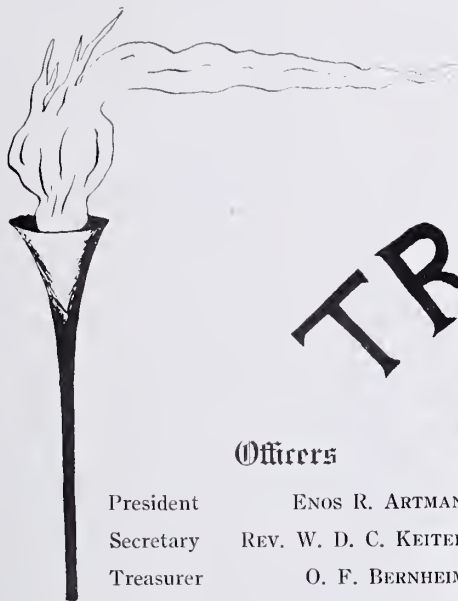

He was a true son of the Lutheran Church, pledged at his ordination to the full body of the Lutheran Confessions and exacted this pledge from all those whom he ordained and inserted it in the congregational constitutions, as well as in the constitution of the first synod.

Dr. Adolph Spaeth

THE greatly lamented Dr. Spaeth, whose earthly life came to an end on the 25th of June, 1910, the anniversary of the Augsburg Confession, was a member of our Board of Trustees from 1870 to 1882. He was born at Eislingen, South Germany, October 29, 1839. He received his classical training in one of those colleges of Wuerttemberg which are famous for their thoroughness in every department. He studied philosophy and theology in Tuebingen University, where he was graduated with honors in 1861. During the same year he was ordained to the office of the ministry in the Lutheran Church and became assistant pastor of a rural parish. After a year's labor in his native country he accepted an appointment as tutor of the present Duke of Argyll, the husband of Princess Louise of England. In 1863 he came to America and became the assistant of Dr. Mann, senior pastor of Zion's Church in Philadelphia. From 1867 until the day of his death he was the beloved and justly revered pastor of St. John's German Church in Philadelphia. In 1873 he became a professor in our Theological Seminary, occupying the chair of New Testament Exegesis and Ethics. He was President of the Ministerium of Pennsylvania as well as of the General Council, for which august body he prepared the Kirchenbuch and the Sonntagschulbuch. He was a contributor to church periodicals and the author of several valued books, e. g. the Life of Dr. Krauth, his father-in-law. Church music had in him an enthusiastic admirer and promoter. He for twenty-five years was intimately connected with the Deaconess Home and the German Hospital in the City of Brotherly Love. He was a prominent personality in the community and his friends were found throughout the entire country. He was at his best in the pulpit, for he possessed the gift of consecrated eloquence, which drew the hearts of men to him, and of many to the Lord, whose humble servant he has been.

ALMA MATER—MUHLENBERG

I love to sit and think and dream
 And oft conspire, and oft conspire,
 And yet amid the swelling stream
 Of fond desire, of fond desire,
 My heart still ever turns to thee.

REFRAIN

Alma Mater, Alma Mater,
 Thee will I ever sing,
 To thee my heart shall cling,

Of thee my praises ring,
 O Muhlenberg! Alma Mater,
 O my Muhlenberg.

Thy skies be ever bright and fair,
 No storm clouds seen, no storm clouds seen,
 In fame, may none with thee compare,
 My Mater Queen, My Mater Queen,
 Thus evermore my song shall be.

CLASS SONG

Tune: Cayuga

We're the class with names immortal
Ever fierce and true.
Gazing through the open portal
Distance lends a view
Of our work on field, in battle,
In our class regime,
We're no more the despised chattel;
We're the class supreme.

While the hours of time are fleeting
Work is ours to do;
From it are we ne'er retreating;
We are staunch and true.
Studies to us are a pleasure;
We are sage and wise;
To them we give truest measure,—
Knowledge ne'er despise.

Alma Mater, we adore thee
Loyal Sons are we;
Bending low the knee before thee,
Show humility.
When from thee we have departed,
We will praise thy name,
That the worn and weary hearted
May reveal thy fame.

THE SENIOR CLASS

Senior History

THE year 1911 has dawned, and the much hoped for, and yet dreaded, Graduation Day has come when we as a class must separate and go our respective ways.

Of the original class that entered college as Freshmen four years ago but fourteen have survived to the present time; but besides these, four other members have been admitted at various times during our course.

Due in a great measure to the comparatively small size of our class, so far as members go, we have perhaps come into closer contact with the various professors, and each other than is the case with some other classes greater as to numbers; and during these four years ties of friendship, and love have been formed that can never be broken.

We have perhaps had differences individually, things may not always have been agreeable to us; and yet not one can look back over our life as students here without a sense of great pleasure and appreciation that he has been one of those who has had the opportunities that we have enjoyed at Muhlenberg, and that he was so fortunate as to graduate with the class of 1911.

What we may lack in numbers we have made compensation for by an enthusiasm and effort along all lines of college activity, and a large share of honors have always fallen to our lot in athletics, in oratory, and especially in general scholarship.

Commencement is before us. Our history as a class at Muhlenberg is made; and it is a history of which all of us may well be proud. Graduation brings us face to face with greater problems in life than we have ever faced; but whatever vocation in life we may fill, whatever difficulties we may have to overcome, the remembrances of Muhlenberg, and of our life here as a class, will exist for us as among the brightest and best years of our lives.

CLASS SONG

Classmates come and give cheer,
Raise up a song of praise
Of friendship near, of memories dear
Of good old college days,
And to our class of nineteen-twelve
Be loyal e'er and true
And let the years of fleeting time
Old friendship oft renew.

And when we pass from out these walls
To battle then with life
Let memories cluster round the walls
That trained us for the strife,
Then drink a toast of loyalty,
Drink deep—and sometimes think
Of friendship near, of memories dear
Of good old college days.

Should auld acquaintance be forgot
And never brought to mind?
Should auld acquaintance be forgot
And days of auld lang syne,
For auld lang syne, my dear,
For auld lang syne
We'll take a cup of kindness yet
For auld lang syne.

ELLIOTT & PHILL

History of the Class of 1912

As Freshmen

THE opening of College in the Fall of nineteen hundred eight witnessed the arrival of the lads of nineteen hundred twelve. Nearly forty men answered "Here" when the much maligned "Haaszie" called the roll. Chivalry, brawn, beauty and intellect—all were well represented in this famous class. Surely 'twas an amusing sight to see the weak-limbed, hollow chested '11 men (then the Sophomores) gape in dismay at the sight of their newly arrived opponents. These same children of 1911 were destined to suffer further thrills later on, as will be evidenced.

Scarcely had 10 o'clock of Thursday morning of the opening day come, but something new was felt at Muhlenberg. It seemed to be a new spirit, a new indefinable something, not possible to be ignored or to be taken lightly. This influx of the new men was to be felt. Things began to boom forthwith.

The first night the Sophs. put up their posters, painted the town green (as they were too poor to paint it red), and made fools of themselves in general by their cowardice in allowing themselves to be captured by a handful of '12 men, who sat on them in the street for two hours. This picnic might have continued indefinitely but for the sudden arrival of some plain clothed men. The next day each of twenty-three men reimbursed the Police Court from $1.50 to $6.50.

Then came the Football game. 28-0, in '12's favor, will tell the story plainly enough. Even Bauman, Sr., '73, caught the new spirit as was evidenced by a score or two of unconscious "He, he, he's" which escaped him.

The Bowl-fight was forfeited to the invincible Freshmen—the Sophs never even showing up for the fray. It was a terrible disappointment for the new comers.

The class play was the next stunt. "Nathan Hale" was presented in a very creditable manner. All were well pleased.

Athletics, baseball, football, basketball, tennis and track—all found loyal supporters in the brawn of the Herculean youths of this "verdant class." Then came the close of our Freshman year much too soon. Nevertheless all departed for a few months vacation, anxiously awaiting the time to return.

As Sophomores

The opening of the Sophomore year found most of the old men back. A number of new faces were visible in our midst. Indeed, many new things were visible. A bunch of very tender Freshmen, two new Faculty members and the absence of "Haaszie" were noted.

Posters were put up on the opening night with the accompanying police raids and all the resulting discomfitures.

On Sept. 14th came the bowl fight. '12 and '13 were the contestants. 1912 was easily victorious.

Then came the stunt of stunts—that memorable hazing bee. The historian would repeat his words in last year's Ciarla relative to this: "The asinine verdancy of some of the babes of '13 was beginning to assume alarming proportions. Several of the immature infants even wore socks, other than the regulation black, and one of the tender darlings actually stayed out one night until after dark. The wise heads of '12 assembled in confab and decided it was time to remedy affairs. A paternal-like warning or two met without much respect at the hands of those for whose welfare it was intended. It was time for action. Like an awful paw of pa, the wrath of '12 descended. At the dead of night six Freshmen were spirited from their rooms and were taken two miles into the country where their heads were most beautifully shorn of their growth. This deed resulted in a most enjoyable vacation for '12."

1911 VS. 1912

In March came our class banquet in Hotel St. Dennis, New York. As a full account of this will be found elsewhere, it needs no further mention here.

Athletics were again well taken care of. Coleman was elected captain of the football team for the season of 1910 and Shelly was track captain during same season. Both seasons were very successful.

===== As Juniors =====

In this year, the Class of 1912, ever advancing, has already attained a very high position. Her men have continued to win distinction in athletics, in the class room and in the world of society.

BOWL FIGHT LINE-UP

1911 VS. 1912

An unusually successful football season—due to a great extent to 1912's representation on the Varsity—did much to enliven greater Muhlenberg in the Fall. Captain Coleman acquitted himself splendidly and Savacool was elected captain for the season of 1911.

In basketball, the Class has been fairly well represented and her showing against the other class teams has been creditable.

More mention of the triumphs of the glorious Class of 1912 is unnecessary and would be superfluous as the Class is more than holding its own in all lines of college activities.

And again the curtain falls upon another year not, however, until some member of the Class has had an opportunity to propose in stentorian voice, a toast to the fair Class of 1912.

Henry J. Brobst Mahanoy City, Pa.

"Tillie"

"A pretty woman is a welcome guest."—Shakespeare.

Here we behold the portrait of one whom his schoolmates have named "Tillie." Of course Henry does not like this name but because of his good nature and love for the beautiful, he has not been wrongly named. Henry came to Muhlenberg determined to study, but homesickness soon followed and he was not to be seen except in his room. Gradually, however, business affairs overcame his longing for home and mother (?) and in several months he was known as Muhlenberg's "Daily Gossip."

Brobst is a student and frequently makes good recitations. His fame as a chorus singer and violinist won him a merited position on the Glee Club. He has an enviable reputation of being a winning card player and has never been known to lose a game of Old Maids.

As Brobst expects to study for the ministry, he early studied the art of sociability and at times takes private instructions from Savacool. Could we unfold the influence of this training, we would declare that his was no common knowledge, but science and poetry itself.

Born Apr. 23, 1890. Euterpea; Dramatic Association; Classical Club; Glee Club; '09-'10-'11; Δ O Fraternity; Muhlenberg Staff; Frankean Society; Schuylkill County Club, Prepared at Mahanoy City High School; A. B. Course.

Walter W. Grossman Womelsdorf, Pa.

"Wop"

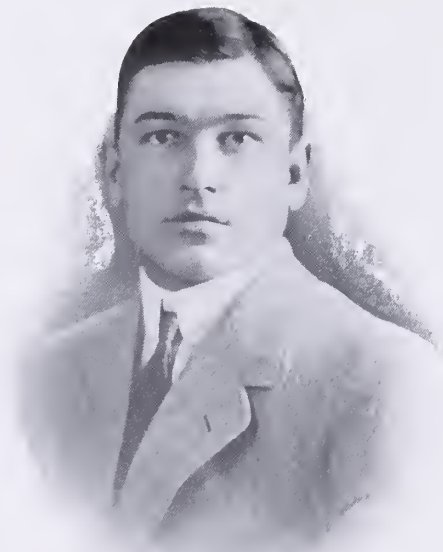

"My only books were women's looks
And folly's all they've taught me,"—Moore.
"A wit with dunces, and a dunce with wits."—Pope.

No doubt many of our fair readers will exclaim upon beholding this picture, "Oh! we often saw him, he's the rising sun of Womelsdorf." In this odd personage are combined some of the greatest qualities ever put together into a human anatomy. He is one of the greatest 'fussers' in our class and he holds the record of having called on eight girls in six successive evenings. He has a very highly developed art of addressing and talking with ladies whom he has never before met, due no doubt to his wide experiences in propounding the merits of aluminum to fair housewives. "Reds" shines all the time and everywhere. In the class room he is one of the chief members of the "Barn Yard Quartette" and has done excellent solo work in imitating the north wind. Among his chief cries of distress are "Decose" and "Wopsel." "Reds" achievements in athletics are few, but he has expressed his intention of going out for track as he thinks he can cover considerable ground with his No. 12's. In his wonderful flow of English, he has proved that he possesses very good business principles, a love for the beautiful and ridiculous and an ardent fervor for Sophronia and Democracy. Let us fittingly close this sketch of a bright and cheerful disposition with one of his favorite ballads.

"Girlie" had a little lamb
His fleece was auburn red,
And wheresoever "Girlie" went
The lamb was sure to tread.

Born Jan. 8, 1892. Ciarla Staff Business Manager; Sophronia; Dramatic Association; Press Club; Ph. B. Society; Business Manager of Freshman Class Play; Assistant Librarian, '09-'10; Secretary of Pennsylvania Oratorical Union; Delegate to Pennsylvania Inter Collegiate Oratorical Union; Class Historian, '10-'11; Assistant Business Manager of Dramatic Association; President of Ph. B. Society, '11; Prepared at Allentown Preparatory School; Ph. B. Course.

Charles Coleman

Hegins

"Charlie," "Coley"

"Back to the mountains, and barbarous caves,
Where manners ne'er were preached,"—Shakespeare.

When "Charlie" came to Muhlenberg he brought with him his native German wit, but that is not all he wished to bring for he often exclaims, "Ach! if I could only have brought my loving Mädchen." We do not wish to convey the idea that Hegins is composed of nothing but love, for Charles is a Socialist, thus an advocate of free love; a philosopher,—well at least he thinks he is—because he thinks in bunches and talks in jerks; a miser, because he always thinks of his money and meals; and a dreamer, always conceiving what Socialism will do for the thirtieth century. As captain of the football team he exercised most of his authority at night. At ten the sturdy German voice was heard to cry, "You blamed jackasses stop your noise, I want to sleep, Tomorrow we have practice at four." As a fusser, "Coley" holds a record. He has been seen out two nights since he entered college; one night he spent at the Gast-House and the other he attended a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Our "Deutscher," however, is a very good student, athlete, debater and a staunch Euterpean. Genug gesagt.

Born Jan. 23, 1886. Euterpea; Classical Club; Frankean Society; Student Council, '11; Varsity Football Team, '08-'09-'10; Football Captain '10; Class Football, '08. Prepared at Allentown Preparatory School. A. B. Course.

Langhorne Wister Fink    Hamburg, Pa.

"Cockie"

"And now when'er his deanship dies,
Upon his tomb be graven,—
A man of God here buried lies,
Who never thought of Heav'n."—Swift
"Society is no comfort to one not sociable."—Shakespeare.

One Hamburger please. The order is quickly filled and the Class of 1912 has given you a rare treat. Fink, small but great, sporty but yet reserved, good looking as many of the girls in town say, is one of our classmates who has done much to foster class spirit while we were still green and all wise. In all our class events he took keen interest and as General led us to many glorious victories in bowl-fights, stair rushes, hair-clippings, shower baths, etc. He is, however, very unfortunate in that he can never find a mate. A single life seems to be his fate. Thrice has he had roommates and thrice have they deserted him and left him alone. But better luck seems to be in store for Fink as one girl has said, that she would give five dollars to meet that little fellow. On the Varsity team last year he played a good game at end. He knows athletics from 'a' to 'z' and can sit and talk for hours on this subject. Fink always gives good recitations and is especially bright in Spanish. The only thing which puzzles us is how Hamburg is able to claim our front row patron of the Lyric and Orpheum.

Herbert B. Frederick

Allentown, Pa.

"Herbie Wopsel"

"Air and manners are more expressive than words."—S. Richardson.

Good reader, let us introduce you to our stage hero. He is the best dramatist in the Class of 1912, as was demonstrated by his almost professional acting of the character of Nathan Hale in the best Freshman play ever presented at Muhlenberg. Another of his feats was the almost serious imitation of the Romeo-Juliet love ballad, whose heroine may still be seen at Lindenmuth's art gallery. This man's wind knows no limit and its mighty hurricane has thrown many of the 'profs.' into confusion. The hot air freely generated dried up the Greek roots and the high winds at a gale of 69.9 would not prevent him from crossing the "pons assinorum." He is Wopsel's corporal and when he says, "go," Wopsel goes. "Freddie" is one of the four taken from the zoological garden and as such he very ably crows second tenor in the "Barn Yard Quartette." Considering his faults and vices, we can nevertheless give him credit for a large amount of 'gray' matter and with some more application to his studies, he can be a leader in class standing. He has always displayed a great amount of class and college spirit and his work as assistant song and cheer leader was very proficient.

Born March 28, 1891. Ciarla Staff, Artist; Sophronia; Dramatic Association; Glee Club, '09-'10-'11; A. T. Ω Fraternity; Ph. B. Club; Classical Club; Assistant College Cheer Leader, '10; Press Correspondent for Glee Club. Prepared at Allentown Preparatory School; Ph. B. Course.

Stanley C. Frederick      Allentown, Pa.

“Wopsel”

“What a spendthrift is he of his tongue!”—Shakespeare.

Stop! Look! Listen! This is Stanley Charles Frederick otherwise known as “Wopsel.” He is our class wonder and one of the eight wonders of the world. His gift of “gab” is rarely if ever excelled at any time. His friends are puzzled whether it is his brains that impels him to speak, or whether one of the fly wheels of his gray matter—granting that he has some—is running at random. He frequently gets a very high mark from Ross because of the fact that he can talk history for an entire period. In society he is a “hummer,” yes even called a social leader. He acquired this degree of eminence because he attended one of the “swellest” churches in New York City in a full dress suit.

While at Prep, he was a star football player but at college he has sacrificed football for his glorious reputation on the basketball floor. It is even rumored that “Wopsel” is the best player in the Church League. Stanley is displaying very good business principles, first as an aluminum agent and second as one of the business managers of this volume. In the class-room Charlie is always taking notes, except when he has his mind centered on a (.) in far away Mass. His good nature and hearty smile have made him one of the most congenial fellows in our class.

Born April 6, 1891. Ciarla Board, Business Manager and Artist; Sophronia; Dramatic Association; Classical Club; Ph. B. Club; Class Football '08; Class Basketball '09-'10-'11; Class Baseball '10. Prepared at Allentown Preparatory School; Ph. B. Course.

James Flynn Henninger Allentown, Pa.

"Jimmie"

"I'll answer him by law; I'll not budge an inch." Shakespeare.—
"But what am I? An infant crying in the night."—Tennyson.

"I am James Flynn Henninger. My father is a lawyer and I am going to be a lawyer." This was "Jimmie's" childhood resolution and although still only a little mite of humanity, he can be heard to argue for hours on any subject. His classmate, Troxell, thinking him a wonderful man and being no longer able to cope with his logic, urged him to use some of his eloquence on the pros. Great would have been the fall of our mighty "Jimmie" had not Prof. Ross listened to his questioning fancy. To make a point impressive, he will propound everything he knows and stamp his foot on the floor with a vehemence as though a Socrates was speaking. In athletics James takes no part and after two years of ardent training under instruction he does not know the first thing about gymnastics. In the social world, Flynn is gaining some renown. He is reported to have had a girl at the Sophronia reception and to have been seen talking with another of the fair sex on Hamilton Street. He has gained many friends at college but he seldom associates with any except "Soggy Doughbread" whom he is continually seeking to devour. As a student he is above reproach and he can be found in his study at 1 A. M. any night. As Secretary of Sophronia he has no equal and he is always willing to participate in any class or college affair.

Born May 9, 1891. Ciarla Board; Associate Editor; Sophronia; Dramatic Association; Classical Club; Secretary of Dramatic Association; Assistant Librarian, '10. Prepared Allentown High School; A. B. Course.

Samuel J. Henry    Phillipsburg, N. J.

“ Sam ”

"Patience, and shuffle the cards!"—Cervantes,

“Give me Phillipsburg or I shall die.” That is this little Scotch-Irishman’s cry. We admire a man who has wit and talent and does not show it unless necessity demands it; such a personage we have in Sam. Would you believe that Sam. is an athlete? He is a good sprinter but excels in the weights. He will heave a lass of 135 lbs. to his shoulder like a toy balloon. If you handle this man with kid gloves and never ruffle his temper your way will be clear; but put an obstacle in his path and there will be a collision. Monday is blue and Sam. cannot study; Tuesday is the call to the Orpheum; Wednesday he plays Haas-en-pfeffer; Thursday he attends lectures and receptions and Friday comes the maternal call from Phillipsburg. Nevertheless he is a student. Unsolved problem: When does he study? Sam. is well posted on all modern subjects and will converse exceptionally well on ethical problems. Bert David will sometimes question his authority but Henry will always prove his point by relating personal experiences. In Mr. Henry we have the pioneer of the Phillipsburg-Easton delegation.

Born Nov. 26, 1890. Ciarla Staff, Artist; Euterpea; Dramatic Association; Classical Club; Class Baseball, '10; Class Track, '10. Prepared at Phillipsburg High School; A. B. Course.

Clarence D. Hummel Nazareth, Pa.

"Abe"

"Joy, temperance and repose, Slam the door on the doctor's nose."—Longfellow.

Here we have the Nazarene. "Abe" is one of the quiet fellows of our class, but when occasion demands he is on hand. His quietness is probably due to the fact that his room-mate, Kuder, is forever hammering away on the ivory keys of the piano in their room and all "Abe" can do is to keep quiet. As a member of the scientific department, he tries very hard to prove to Brossman the value of a Scientific Course in developing a man. In these discussions he occasionally gets the molecules of his brain confused and we have a terrific explosion.

"Abe" has always taken an active part in class athletics. When the cruel examinations tried to break up our Sophomore basketball team, he came to the rescue and by his steady game at centre prevented such a misfortune. He has also played on our class baseball teams and as a "scrub" on the football team his work was good.

We have been unable to fathom his ideas of the fair sex. His weekly trips to Nazareth, however, indicate that our future "Doc" is not going to nurse all his troubles alone.

Born Feb. 17, 1891. Sopronia; Dramatic Association; J. L. Biological Society; Business Manager of Dramatic Association; Δ O Fraternity; Football Squad, '09-'10; Class Basketball, '10-'11; Manager of Class Basketball, '11; Class Baseball, '10. Prepared at Allentown Preparatory School. B. S. Course.

Paul de B. Keever

Utica, N. Y.

"De Bang"

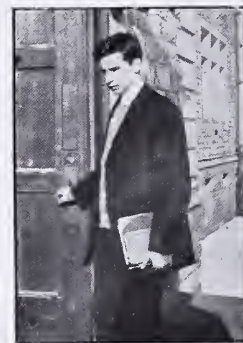

"For they can conquer who believe they can."—Virgil.

Paul comes all the way from Utica. It may seem that he is far away from "Home, Sweet Home." This, however, is not the case, as his childhood days were spent at Catasauqua (also the home of Kostenbader's beer). He tries to introduce many Utican customs and one of them is to go down-town without a hat.

Keever also holds quite a record as a "fusser." Brossman and he have many engagements with the fair maids of Allentown and many a friendship has been made and broken. He also has a wonderful amount of talk and many a girl has been entangled by his net of experience.

Paul is one of Edison's great rivals in the electrical world. His genius has led to many peculiar inventions. After some of his lengthy nocturnal calls, Keever discovered that it was a difficult task to rise early and he installed a system of electric bells in his room so that his early rising neighbors might awaken him. Many drowsy sleepers heard the sound of the gong but for Keever the experiment was a failure. We feel sure that if he follows up his experiments with electricity we shall hear from our classmate in the future.

Born Apr. 6, 1892. Ciarla Staff, Artist; Sophronia; Dramatic Association; John Lear Biological Society; Δ Θ Fraternity; Assistant Librarian, '10; President of Empire State Club, '10-'11; Class Track, '09-'10. Prepared at Utica High School; B. S. Course.

Robert G. Kleckner

Allentown, Pa.

"Bob."

"Men, like bullets, go farthest when they are smoothest."—Richter.

This introduces us to one of Allentown's future great men. He is very loyal to his home town and is convinced that Allentown is the best place on earth. His tendency is toward law and so closely has he followed up this pursuit that it has carried him into the courts of Lehigh County. In order to affiliate himself with the authorities, he has seen fit to try to wend his way into the favor of the judge through the court of his daughter.

It is unusual when "Bob" and his combination are not seen on the tennis courts on a pleasant afternoon in spring. At times he is able to conquer the "fleet-footed" Stump. Riding bicycle from his home to college and his ponies in class-rooms are his only other athletic activities.

In literary work Kleckner has been taking active interest. His work in the Dramatic Association is most creditable and because of his efficiency in oratory he has taken important parts in both class and college plays.

Born Jan. 19, 1892. Sophronia; Dramatic Association; Glee Club, '10-'11; Classical Club; Assistant Manager Glee Club, '11; Sophronia Debating Team; Class President, '10; Secretary of Glee Club '11. Prepared at Allentown High School; A. B. Course.

J. Robert Kline

Quakertown, Pa.

“Soggy.”

“He who lacks strength must attain his purpose by skill.”—Scott.

“It is for homely features to keep at home.”—Milton.

This fellow is going to prove to you “das ein recht geordneter Mann hat ein wohl geschafne Naus.” “Soggy” hails from Quakertown and is reputed to have placed that name on the map. We do in no way wish our readers to think him a Quaker because he is far from this. Being one of the smallest members of our class in physique, although his Siamese brother, Henninger, is a close second, we must all bow to him intellectually.

As to the exact time of this young man’s debut into society we have no precise information but all indications point to the noted football game when his native flame saw him seated next to a fair dame. Oh the sad tale of a broken heart!

Unable to shine on the gridiron or on the gymnasium floor, Kline tries to be guardian of the peace in the classroom. His uncultivated voice, which would harmonize very well with a herd of howling monkeys in a forest, frequently disturbs the quiet in Prof. Ross’s class-room and “Soggy” is the first to leave the room. A fine disposition, big heart and his wonderful love—of the weed and women—all go to show that good things come in small packages.

Born Dec. 7, 1891. Sophronia; Dramatic Association; Classical Club; A. T. Ω Fraternity.

Prepared at Quakertown High School; A. B. Course.

Paul H. Krauss

Chicago, Ill.

"Amos"

"It is a good divine that follows his own teachings."—Shakespeare.

"A game of cards interests more than the loss of an empire."—Zimmerman.

Although this is his first year with us, Krauss has tried to make us feel that he is an important and very desirable addition to our class. Hailing from the large Northwestern University, he conducts himself egotistically and feels it is his solemn duty to morally uplift our small Muhlenberg. He uses his great (?) personality to win sinners not already in the folds of the Frankean Missionary Society. Thus far his one great effort has been to raise a sufficient amount of money to support two native missionaries in India.

In the few short months that Krauss has been with us, he has displayed himself to be a well rounded college man. In the class room he has borne himself in such a scholarly demeanor as befits a member of 1912. As a speaker he shows the possibilities of a great orator (for further information ask Krauss himself concerning his record at Northwestern). In football he has played a consistent game on the 'Varsity as right tackle. According to the undeniable proof of his display of dance programs, we feel assured that the social prestige of our class will be greatly advanced by him. Already he tells us that Allentown girls are wild for him.

Although a late edition to our student body, we heartily welcome Krauss into our class.

Born Nov. 16, 1890. Sophronia; Frankean Missionary Society; Glee Club, '11; Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity; 'Varsity Football, '10; Captain Soph. Class Football Team, '10. Prepared at Northwestern University; A. B. Course.

Joseph M. Kuder

Lehighton, Pa.

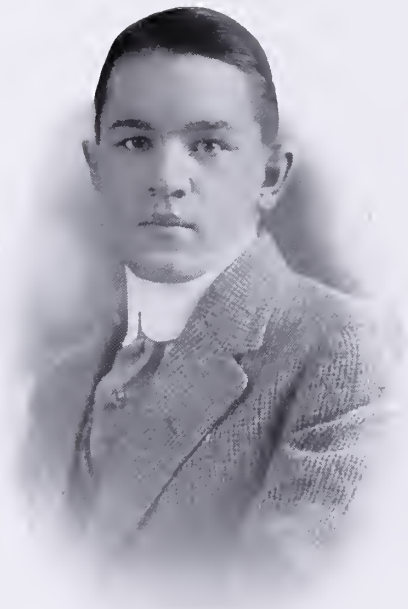

"Joe"

"Music so softens and disarms the mind
That not an arrow resistance finds."—Waller.

This introduces the one who maintains 1912's record in the musical world. One with great talent and excellent technique and with it all the peculiarities a great musician must have. Joseph considers no piano other than a baby grand worthy for him to display his ability. All those who attended the Allentown Glee Concert will remember that our Paderwiski could only be suited by a Grand from New York. At Tamaqua the concert was delayed three-quarters of an hour until a stool was secured which he deemed worthy for his occupancy. Taking no part in college activities he spends his time hammering the music box in his room much to the displeasure of "Coley" who maintains that a piano in the dorms is entirely misplaced and none other than a great nuisance. Although he spends very little time with the fair sex in Allentown, the hint that Joseph passes his every week end at home might solve the problem to those interested. Some girl in Lehighton may throw more light upon this affair. Although not very loquacious most every one at some time has felt his withering sarcasm. In closing we wish to propound a problem. Was Kuder too good for the Glee Club or the Glee Club too good for Kuder?

Born May 27, 1891. Sophronia; Classical Club; Student Council; Δ Θ
Fraternity; Pianist of Glee Club, '10. Prepared at Perkiomen; A. B. Course.

Rowland W. Leiby

Allentown, Pa.

“Leib-weh ”

“None but himself can be his parallel.”—Theobald.

This is one of our prospective physicians. In looking for him, however, you can not find him by hunting for a professional shingle over a “Walk-in ” sign but you must look for a bow-legged Lilliputian with a cigar-stump stuck in his face.

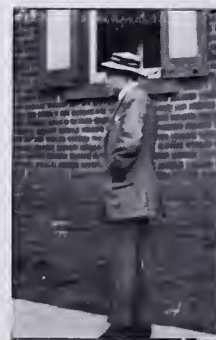

Leiby’s activities about college are few, but the impression left with a casual observer on seeing him half-walk, half-trot across the campus is that of a fussy, nervous, overburdened little man. When at college, he can generally be found in the Biological Laboratory dissecting some weak and helpless bug or worm. Occasionally he also makes star recitations in Wackey’s room.

Although not of athletic stature, Leiby has faithfully upheld our class by taking active interest in our Inter-Class Basketball series.

Little is heard of Rowland’s social activities, but rumor occasionally has it that he was seen on the streets of Allentown with a girl. Strange to relate, in these instances, names are never mentioned and descriptions never coincide.

Time has not as yet been sufficient to place Leiby on the pedestal of fame but after concluding a course in medicine, we feel confident that he will become one of Allentown’s well-known M. D’s.

Born Sept. 29, 1892. Sophronia ; Dramatic Association ; John Lear Biological Society ; Δ O Fraternity ; Class Basketball, '10-'11. Prepared at Allentown Preparatory School ; B. S. Course.

Adam Franklin Miller

Lebanon, Pa.

“Satan”

“In council he gives license to his tongue.”—Dryden.

It is reported of Miller that he sat up in his cradle and delivered a learned discourse on “Anything and Everything.” Whether or not this story is true, it is certain that Miller has been talking on anything and everything ever since. Miller’s is not all idle talk. He has two mighty aims in life. The one is to conquer all profs. and wise men in argument. He already has the faculty eating out of his hand and is looking for other world’s to conquer. If Hell is a mental state, surely for Miller it will be the gathering of spirits all of whom agree with him. His other aim is to become a social lion. He had accomplished his aim when the unexpected and unexplained happened, and instead of spending all his spare time down town he passes those hours in another diversion. But the most prominent among Miller’s talents is his temper, guaranteed to rise at the least provocation. Miller is widely read in political happenings and is able to hold his own against our great Socialist Coleman. As a student we need say nothing as he passes his exams. and always escapes conditions. If he will heed the warning that a man can not do two things well at one time and devote himself to his studies, we hope to see Miller become a prominent lawyer.

Born Sept. 1, 1889. Ciarla Staff, Associate Editor; Sophronia; Dramatic Association; Classical Clnb; A T Ω Fraternity; Class Historian, '09; Class Secretary, Second Semester, '09; Ph. B. Club. Prepared at Lebanon High School; Ph. B. Course.

Ernest J. Reiter

Quakertown, Pa.

"Huns"

"Pride the first peer and president of Hell."—Defoe.

"Huns" is the ideal college sport. He smokes an ugly looking pipe, wears loud clothes and is a deuce of a fellow with the ladies. With a pipe in his mouth and a smile on his face, with his trousers carelessly (but carefully) rolled up, with a cowboy hat and a Bohemian air, he is irresistible and at times captivates an unsuspecting maid.

He dabbles in athletics and was successful in winning his 'M' for track work. To have the public see that he could wear an 'M' he took a girl to the Lyric into a box and wearing the letter displaying it to the sight of all.

But his fame rests not only on mere physical and worldly glories. "Huns" is famous at college for having tripped up Dr. Haas on a Biblical fact. Incidentally he has not recited in religion since. We dare not neglect to say that he studies once in a while, but if he hears a suggestion for a game of cards, he will be the first to volunteer.

We hope to have shown by this time that Reiter is really a great man, but if anything is wanting to make his fame complete, we need but mention that he is an artist of no mean merit, and when he strikes his favorite pose, he is passably fair to behold.

Born June 24, 1890. Ciarla Staff, Artist; Euterpea; Dramatic Association; Classical Club; Frankean Society; Press Club; Minister's Sons Club; President of Euterpea, (11); Athletic Editor, '11; Director of Athletic Association; Assistant Librarian of Euterpea; Muhlenberg Staff; Vice-President of Class '09; Class Football, '08; Track Team, '09-'10; Manager Class Baseball, '10. Prepared at Allentown Preparatory School; Ph. B. Course.

Edgar Orlando Reitz

Slatington, Pa.

"Rites"

"If ought obstruct thy course, yet stand not still,
But wind about till thou has topp'd the hill."

—Sir J. Denham

This is the changeling who has been presented to us by the Class of 1911, but despite two years of their training he seems to be a pretty good fellow. Of course, he still is imbued with some 1911 spirit and very kindly gives us some advice as to "the way we did this when I was a member of 1911"; but we take all this with a grain of salt and are not on the rocks yet. Reitz's greatest ambition is to get through college with the least mental effort possible and it is surprising how well he is doing it. Of course every once in a while a prof. calls his bluff, but a few administrations of soft salve to the profs. soon relieves all hard feeling. Reitz is an ardent Christian and always sets in the front pew—when he knows Dr. Haas is going to preach. We hope, before we allow him to graduate to make Reitz almost a worthy 1912 man, although the old Mexican says, "The way the twig is bent so will it likewise grow," and he has had two years of 1911.

Born Jan. 29, 1886. Euterpea; Frankean Society; Classical Club; Scrub Football. Prepared at Ursinus College and Allentown Preparatory School; A. B. Course.

Walter Rentschler      Shoemakersville, Pa.

"Rentschy"

"A gentle disposition is at times deceiving,"—Dove.

On the opening day of Muhlenberg College, September 1909, Walter Rentschler entered the portals of this institution as a Sophomore. He had a very lively course during his first two months at college for he has the very enviable record of having been suspended after his first month at Muhlenberg. But Rentschler is not at all vicious. In fact he is notable for his mildness and sweetness. It is hardly necessary for us to say that he is a favorite with the fair sex. Rentschler is with J. Pierpont Morgan, an accomplished collector of valuable books. It is said he has the best library of "Handy Lit's" at Muhlenberg.

As a pianist, Rentschler is superior, only being surpassed by "Soggee" in his famous rendition of "Wilhelm Tell." It is our private opinion that Rentschler could become a famous pianist were it not for his aesthetic sense which will not permit him to allow his hair to extend beyond well defined limits.

Just one word more that will reflect to the glory of this celebrity. Rentschler is the most constant and steady of the Dramatic Critics' Circle. He has seen all the productions in the Lyric Theatre this season and can speak exhaustively upon the relative merits of Southern and Kirk Brown as interpreters of the Great Dramatist.

Born Aug. 13, 1892. Euterpea; Classical Club; Muhlenberg Staff; Class Secretary, (3); Class Baseball, (2); Class Track, (2); Class Basketball, (3); A. B. Course. Prepared Kutztown State Normal School.

Jacob S. Savacool   Sellersville, Pa.

“Jeppy”

“She pleased when distant but when near she charmed.”—Shenstone.

This introduces “Jeppy” Savacool who believes that a Junior can successfully be a student, athlete and society man. To be proficient in these lines of activity, “Jake” seldom studies. He will either be doing his weekly correspondence or trying to win in a game of cards with “Sam” Henry. Nevertheless we do admit that Savacool is actively interested in his studies.

This man also shines in college athletics. He is one of our veteran football warriors and believes in playing the game to win. He is very generous in elbowing his opposing men in a game. “Jake” also wishes to be known as a tennis-player since he defeated Stump in a well-played ‘set.’

In social lines Savacool is competing with Brossman for first honors. “Jeppy” believes in being companionable and practices what he believes. I’d LONG to tell some more of his social interests A LONG with this but space prohibits.

“Jeppy” expects to enter the ministry. He is preparing himself for his profession by doing those things which it would be impossible to do when he is ordained.

Born Jan. 16, 1890. Ciarla Staff; Associate Editor; Euterpea; Dramatic Association; Classical Club; College Football, (2, 3); Captain, (4); Class Track, (2); Class Baseball, (2); A. B. Course. Prepared Allentown Preparatory School.

James Blaine Schock Mount Zion, Pa.

"Jimsie"

"Dull, unfeeling, barren ignorance."—Shakespeare.

James Blaine Schock is not a relative of the late distinguished statesman, James G. Blaine. Think of one who is named after a politician, who is supposed to be able to recognize all the babies in the neighborhood, unable to remember what his partner to the A. C. W. Reception looked like. But why should Schock be a politician? Is it because the law was first given from Mount Zion? But James never does talk politics and hence he must be a misnomer. He will make an ideal husband for some opinionated suffragette. Is he aggressive, bold, haughty, independent? Not at all. He is calm, passive, humble and an excellent follower. The only trouble is that he might forget the appearance of his wife and lose her in some big crowd. But never fear, James, you may want to lose her.

He is always to be found in his study at night pondering over his books. In languages, especially Greek and Latin, he always makes good recitations. His work in mathematics is also good enough to pass him at 70%. James never believes in Physical Culture until spring, when he will eat sparingly and sleep much in order to defeat Shelly at tennis. Although James does not manifest college spirit in the manner the majority advocate, nevertheless he is loyal to the Class and to his Alma Mater.

Born Mar. 26, 1892. Sophronia; Classical Club; Assistant Librarian of Sophronia; Football Scrub, '09; Class Track, '10. Prepared at Allentown Preparatory School; A. B. Course.

Henry B. Shelly

Quakertown, Pa.

"Hen"

"Of all mankind, each loves himself the best."—Terrence.

This, patient reader, introduces you to the last of the Quakertown contingent. He shines equally in the student, athletic and social world and the beautiful brown curly combination of his hair and his otherwise pleasing countenance makes him look positively handsome. He is a brilliant student and a member of the Classical Club. He is a loyal Euterpean and expresses an intention of joining the Missionary Society. Like Reiter, Shelly is a fast young man, not fast in society but on the basketball floor and on the track. His work in these two branches of athletics is worthy of praise. Shelly is also one of Muhlenberg's best tennis players and after employing his knowledge of mathematics and measuring all possible sines, cosines and tangents he can handle anything from a "high ball" to a parabola. In fact, Shelly is bright, witty, studious, sturdy, happy, pleasant, upright, comely, temperate, thoughtful, earnest, sympathetic, honest and jurisprudent, that is, he is an ideal brother, son or lover.

(Editor's note.—Mr. Shelly is the author of some of these biographies, including the above.)

Born Oct. 10, 1888. Ciarla Staff, Associate Editor; Euterpea; Classical Club; ΔO Fraternity; Director to Athletic Association; Track Team, '09-'10; Captain of Track Team, '10; Manager of Class Football, '08; Football Scrub, '08-'09; Class Basketball, '09-'10-'11; Captain of Class Basketball, '10. Prepared at West Chester Normal; A. B. Course.

Clarence M. Snyder Sellersville, Pa.

"Decose"

"New loves you seek,
New vows to plight, and plighted vows to break,"—Dryden.

Surely it is a waste of time to extol the praises of our Editor-in-Chief, more familiarly known as "Dicker" or "Decose." He is equally prominent in intellectual, athletics and social activities at college. He is conceded to be one of the best scholars of his class and uses the happy combinations of native wit and borrowed genius in preparing his lessons. In the field of literature Snyder has distinguished himself as a writer of fiction and epistles, the nature of which must be known to all who know our hero. He is also athletically inclined. His muscular strength and power of endurance have made him a favorite Varsity man ever since his entrance into college.

One of "Dick's" faults, if such it might be called, is that he is a great admirer of the beautiful. He is well-known among our fair friends in Allentown. He, however, does not confine himself to Allentown, but Jersey has great fascination for him. It is not uncommon to hear Snyder asking for a timetable and in half an hour see him wending his way to the Jersey Central Station. Believe me, Snyder certainly has good taste.

No, ladies and gentlemen, Snyder is not yet an angel or a demi-god, but as Editor of this Ciarla, he would not publish all that we might like to say about him and he would yet get back at us somewhere else.

Born Mar. 1, 1888. Ciarla Staff, Editor-in-Chief; Euterpea; Dramatic Association Glee Club, '10-'11; Classical Club; A T <sup>12</sup> Fraternity; Vice-President Students' Organization; Secretary of Euterpea, '10; (Class Semester); Varsity Football, '08-'09-'10; Class Football, '08; Class Track, '09-'10; College Track, '10. Prepared at Allentown Preparatory School; A. B. Course,

George P. Stump Phillipsburg, N. J.

"Shakespeare"

"Rest is the sweet sauce of labor."—Plutarch.

New Jersey has furnished us with a character of whom she may well be proud. This personage, George P. Stump, is an adopted son of the Class of 1912, and he has proved himself very loyal. He is a fairly good student and always takes Jefferson's advice and speaks deliberately. But despite the fact that he hails from Jersey, he is nearly civilized, due to the fact that he lived near the border of civilization. Sometimes when there is no one around to play cards (which, by the way, seldom happens), George has been known to study. His fame at Haas-en-pfeffer is enviable as he is known to have made two tricks when bidding eight. Stump has a jolly disposition, but is often moved by whims. For instance, when he had been in college but one month, he decided to boycott the faculty and left the premises for two weeks after which the faculty was completely under his power and left him come back. Stump is also musically inclined. We are told that he was accustomed to sing himself to sleep when he still lay in the cradle. He is now a member of the Glee Club. Stump is very conservative along social lines and has never been seen in the company of any of the fair dames of Allentown, but is content to go home "to his father and mother (?)" every Sunday.

Born Sept. 4, 1893. Enterpea; Classical Club; Glee Club, '11; Frankean Society;
Class Baseball, '10. Prepared at Lerch Preparatory School; A. B. Course.

Clarence E. Troxell      Cementon, Pa.

“Hydroxel”

“Better an ass that carries us
Than a horse that throws us.”—Tilcomb.
“A horse! a horse! my kingdom for a horse!”—Shakespeare.

This introduces you to our famous knight. He is the famous comparator of manuscripts, that is to say he compares Greek and Latin works with English equivalents. Troxell is certainly a wonder at Muhlenberg. He is the persistent student and can laugh at all the dry jokes of the profs. Prof. Ross is the only professor whom he has been unable to conquer with his deep questions. In mathematics none surpass him except “Wopel” and about twenty others. “Hydroxel” expects to enter the ministry and he is already superintendent of a German Sunday School. He is not inclined athletically or socially. His wonderful exhibitions in the gymnasium prove his utter ignorance of athletics. However it has lately been rumored that he has a girl in his Sunday School Class and that he calls on her every Tuesday and Friday night. Troxell is not an angel by any means. He dissipates once in a while, smokes cigars only at Classical Club and is said to have spent ten cents at one time. He indulges freely in Red Scrap and he will cut classes in order to secure the same. He is also the discoverer of the one note bass which is always evident at all song and cheer practices. We predict for this wonder an important position on the Cementon School Board.

Born Apr. 5, 1892. Sophronia; Classical Club. Prepared at Allentown Preparatory School; A. B. Course.

Luther F. Waidelich

Sellersville, Pa.

"Munk"

"A sunny temper gilds the edges of life's blackest clouds."—Guthrie.

This fair countenanced Junior, gentle reader, believes that woman is the noblest work of God. When he is away from them, he longs for their company; when he's with them, he thinks he is in bliss. Do not misjudge him, however, for it isn't of his own choosing. The girls just couldn't resist his lovely curls and he was drawn into the social whirl. Speaking of happy dispositions, Waidelich is a model, being blessed with the name of Luther and the descriptive name of "Munk." He is religious and an annual contributor to the treasury of the Frankean Society. Waidelich is very prominent in literary work and a strong debater and orator in Euterpea. His scholarship is above reproach. He always has star recitations for "Wackey" and is also fond of mathematics and contemplates taking a post-graduate course in Math. at Muhlenberg. He has never been known to have been able to "bluff" although he tries it in some recitations. "Munk" is perfectly happy with a pipe in his mouth but more we will not say at his most earnest request. He does not want us to roast him too much for fear of the bad opinion people might form. But, after all, although Waidelich is noted for his beautiful countenance, his scholastic attainments, his wonderful voice, his claim to eternal honor lies in the direction of his social triumphs.

Born May 24, 1890. Ciarla Staff, Associate Editor; Euterpea; Classical Club; Dramatic Association; Glee Club, '10-'11; A T Ω Fraternity; Press Club; Minister's Sons Club; Muhlenberg Staff; Vice-President of Class, '10; Class Baseball, '10. Prepared at Allentown Preparatory School; A. B. Course.

Harry M. Wertz

Reading, Pa.

"Warts"

"Him for the studious shade Kind nature formed."—Thomson.

Last but not least we come to Harry. In leaving him till last, we violate an unchangeable law—that in argumentation the strongest arguments should be presented first. But the alphabet has played many a sportive trick and we must be resigned to our fate. Wertz is primarily a social animal. He is always looking for someone to notice the careful adjustment of his hair and clothing. 'Tis said he has good judgment about females, but of this we are officially ignorant. Next to society there is nothing so pleasing to Wertz as a good argument in which he must exercise his wits to bring about the downfall of his opponent. As a student Harry cannot be surpassed and he takes active interest in all literary activities at college. Wertz is a dramatic artist of no mean ability, having played important female roles in our Freshman play and in "The College Widow." The class has placed great confidence in his business abilities in making him one of the business managers of this Ciarla. Is there anything more to make his name famous? We hope not, but to make things certain, we will mention that he is a contributing member of the Frankean Missionary Society and expects to enter the ministry. Surely if he is still single, which is highly improbable with his charm, he will be prominent in Ladies' Aid Societies.

Born Dec. 29, 1886. Ciarla Staff, Business Manager and Associate Editor; Sophronia; Dramatic Association; Glee Club, '11; Frankean Society; Press Club; Classical Club; Treasurer of Classical Club; Vice-President of Dramatic Association; Librarian of Sophronia. Prepared at Reading High School; A. B. Course.

Tune: "Auld Lang Syne."

Now comrades stand,
Draw close the band
Of friendship, honor, trust.
Let every year
Make truth more dear
And drive away distrust.

Now hand in hand
Go forth a band
With strength increased each
Prepare to meet [year;
And turn defeat;
We never shall know fear.

United now,
With plighted vow,
We'll all stand staunch and true;
And sing a song
Of victories won
Around our Gold and Blue,

Cho. Now gather 'round the Blue and
As loyal sons and true; [Gold,
The spirit fostered in that fold,
You'll never, never rue.

Cho. Come gather 'round the Blue and
Ye loyal sons and true; [Gold,
Create a spirit in that fold,
We'll never, never rue.

Cho. Stand 'round our banner brave and
As loyal sons and true; [bold,
The spirit fostered in that fold
We'll never, never rue.

Sophomore Class History

ICAN find no more fitting words to express our illustrious class history than those of Shakespeare, "Thus far our fortune has kept an upward course, and we are graced with wreathes of victories." Like Cæsar, we came, we saw, we conquered.

Our Freshmen year ended gloriously by inflicting an overwhelming defeat on the Class of 1912 in the inter-track meet. And now "arma virosque cano." Our first act as Sophomores was one of parental kindness, namely to post the rules and regulations for the instruction of "Ye Little Green Fresh." On September 14, 1910, our first chance was offered to humiliate these verdant Freshmen. Outnumbered and already defeated in the eyes of the other students, we marched on the field, ready for the fray. Suffice it to say that the Bowl-fight ended with a decisive victory for the Blue and Gold. Again defeat was their due when they had the audacity to meet us in football.

When it became necessary to meet these docile children at a flower and molasses party in the traditional banquet room, the basement of the Administration Building, these youths were fully as green as we had pictured them. They again exhibited this meek spirit, so becoming to Freshmen, when we taught one of their number his proper position. To test their aggressiveness we blockaded the steps one afternoon and begged them to enter. Meekly they loitered about and entered only when higher authority interposed.

Enough has been said to prove our superiority over the Freshmen. Now let us record our other important class activities. On the evening of February 21, 1911, we held our class banquet at the Hotel Allen, Allentown. This dignified affair was a success in every way and will always be remembered with great pleasure by those who attended. Another eventful work was the publication of a college calendar. This was, beyond doubt, the best college calendar ever published at Muhlenberg and shows the aggressiveness and mettle of our class.

It is with great pride that our class can say that every year it has given something to Muhlenberg. This year it has placed a large wooden bowl in the trophy room upon which the scores of all bowl-fights can be inscribed for many years to come. In Athletics our class has even exceeded its previous good record. We had six men on the Varsity Football Squad, while we bid fair to outdistance the other classes in the number of Varsity men for the track and field events. In basketball we have repeated our glorious record.

Two motives have influenced our class in all its past activities. The first was to advance fellowship in our college and the second and more important was to aid in the betterment and advancement of Muhlenberg College. In the future we intend to follow our motto "Forward" with these aims in view.

THE FRESHMAN CLASS

Freshmen Class History

“HEY Freshies,” whispered one of the fellows in an undertone, “after chapel exercises we’ll hustle up to the hall on the third floor and get organized double quick.” “Alright, we’ll be there,” came the reply. And thus the first beginnings of the history of the class of 1914 were set afoot.

The posters with which the Sophs attempted to decorate the town, were still wet with fresh paste when they mysteriously disappeared. On the night of September 11, however, between midnight and daybreak, “ye Lunkheads” were generously spread throughout the city by the wearers of the green, to the grinning amusement of the upper classmen and townspeople.

The day of the scheduled bowl-fight next came around, and on the gridiron, facing each other, stood two lines of greasy looking men, who were shining examples of physical development. The whistle blew its shrill signal, and soon the freshman bowl-man calmly sauntered up to his classmen, with the bowl under his arm, which he had politely taken from his opponent. It was quickly seen, that the laurels would crown 1914 for the first half. During the intermission the Sophs held a hasty and desperate council of war. The battle again began, with the Freshmen in the lead, but owing to the fact that the Sophs understood the game more thoroughly than the Freshmen they came off with the bigger score. It was also rumored that had a little more care (?) been exercised in scoring, the totals might have summed up differently.

Saturday came, and again on the gridiron two teams struggled. The elevens’ of 1913 and 1914 were in deadly combat. “We’ll be ‘ever advancing’ toward those goal posts — yes, six or seven times,” bellowed the Sophs. “We’ll ‘conquer or die,’” responded the Freshies, and they looked it as they bravely faced a team which had worked together many times before. The supporters of the Sophs, who wanted to bet on a score of 30-0, were stunned at the valiant fight which the sturdy Freshmen made, and when the teams withdrew with a final score peeled down to 5-0 in favor of the Sophomores, all agreed that it had been a bravely fought contest.

‘Sophomores Dined Without Their Tuxedos’ appeared in the headlines of the newspapers one day in February, and the Freshies grinned. Only this and nothing more. Not that any of them doubted for a moment that ‘this trifling matter, however, did not interfere with the banquet’, yet they were seen to cast sly winks occasionally at one another.

The class of 1914 has contributed substantial material to the ‘varsity eleven’. She has done more than the usual share of Freshmen in glee-club work. She is proud of a fast basket-ball team, and will be splendidly represented on the track and base-ball teams. In literary efforts she has held up her end alright, and there is not a sphere of college activities in which her influence is not a factor to be reckoned with.

The class of 1914 is here and on the job. She has done things; she is doing things; she will do still greater things. She is putting her shoulder to the wheel, and is resolutely determined that she will leave her foot-prints on the sands of time for the glory of Greater Muhlenberg.

Literary Societies

THE founding of Muhlenberg College in the year 1867, marks the establishment of two literary societies, Euterpea and Sophronia. Since that time these organizations have by their activity and progressiveness wielded a great influence over Muhlenberg men.

To the classical man it is often attributed that his education consists mainly of a theoretical knowledge. The object of our two societies is to bring before its members practical and up-to-date questions, which require logical discussions of existing conditions. Furthermore they attempt to promote the correct use of the English language and afford an opportunity for a student to cultivate the art of public speaking. The need of social functions for the purpose of fostering sociability among Muhlenberg students has been realized during the last few years. The literary societies took up the matter and are giving semi-annual receptions and dances. The receptions to the new men have been exceptionally successful.

Commencement week is a gala occasion for both societies and society spirit at this time reaches its zenith. The day preceding commencement is the date of the reunions. Alumni from all sections of the country are in attendance. Greetings are exchanged, encouragement given, and experiences of society life for many years past related.

The chief public literary events of the societies are the annual inter-society debate and oratorical contest. The winner of the oratorical contest represents Muhlenberg at the annual inter-collegiate contest. Possibly the most difficult work undertaken by the two organizations is the publication of a monthly college paper, The Muhlenberg. The students have charge of the various departments of its publication and the stories, essays and other material is furnished by them.

This year the societies offered two prizes to the persons producing the best short stories. By this means a number of worthy articles were received for publication.

The students have at their disposal the use of two excellent libraries which are owned and maintained by the societies. Each one of them contains about 3000 works by the best authors. Frequent additions are made and the number is constantly increasing.

Euterpea's motto "Watch and Advance" as well as Sophronia's "The End Crowns the Work" have in the past furnished stimulus for sincere and successful work and we hope that in the future its members will strive to accomplish greater things.

ATHLETICS.

Athletics at Muhlenberg

BY PROFESSOR WM. REESE

BALL bounding out of a struggling mass, a dash for the goal, an end run, a flying tackle, the dull thud of a falling player, a cheer and the football season of 1910 ended. Again the Indians had been defeated. A season had passed which to some extent was a great disappointment and yet much had been accomplished. The spirit of a student body is shown when its team is losing. When the team is losing the rousing cheers from the student body will always inspire new courage into the players. The burst of enthusiasm will also spurn on a team to still greater efforts although they may be winning. If the student body fail in its support the team is in a sorry plight indeed. During the past season the student body stuck and loyally supported a losing team. If the scores brought no other results — and they did — they plainly showed that the team winning or losing had the unqualified support of every student. Such spirit is the spirit that in the end is victorious. The efficient training of the squad by Dr. Bull in the fundamentals of the game goes far in making next season a grand success. Our thoughts are turned to next season. We are most confident that it is going to be the most successful season Muhlenberg has ever had. With a seasoned squad, preliminary practice, bright prospects of good new material and a good schedule there is no reason why victory should not perch on our banner. Reader, we want you to show the same spirit of loyalty and support that every one of the student body shows.

The track season last spring was a very successful one. This year's season should be even better than that of last year.

Believing that more work along the line of physical culture should be given to the entire student body, as heretofore the good of the many had been sacrificed for the benefit of the few, a man who will take charge of all branches of physical work has been employed for the entire year. Gymnasium work will in a short time be required of every class — not only the Sophomores and Freshmen. In early spring the men will take up different phases of track work. This will not only develop men for the track but it will also be excellent preliminary training for foot ball. We believe we have secured a man who is especially fitted for this work—a man who is young, accomplished, carefully trained and coached in this work which he expects to make his life work.

Fortunately he will room in the dormitories and thus come into personal contact with the men. This should result not only to a moral uplift of the men but also advancement to a great extent along personal hygiene. The training of the body is as important as the training of the mind. The object of education is to give a man symmetrical benefit, moral and physical. With the advent of the new system we believe that then ideals can be more fully realized than ever before at Muhlenberg. All we need now is the hearty cooperation of all our friends with the student body in support of these conditions. Reader, if you are not a student or an alumnus, may the spirit of our college be ever with you, and may you give us your support financially, your support at the games and always encourage all our college activities.

ALUMNUS we need your support in an even greater measure than ever before. If you have been loyal be more loyal; if you have been enthusiastic, be more enthusiastic; if you have given liberally, give even more liberally. Your support will go far to elevate the spirit of the student body, even more than it is at present.

STUDENTS—may the thought of your Alma Mater ever be with you during the summer vacation; think and live for your college, excite every effort in her behalf and thus help to create a Muhlenberg spirit as widely known as Yale spirit. Let us return in the fall with the spirit "never die". Then indeed will we have a worthy team, excelled by none of the colleges in our class.

If you are discouraged the Faculty is ever with you trying to help, aid and assist you through thick and thin. Let us all friend, alumnus, student and faculty then live and ever work, WORK, WORK for our college.

Football Songs

(Tune: "Dear Mother Land.")

We fight for our dear Muhlenberg,
The college best on earth,
There'll never be another school,
Like this that gave us birth,
And from our own dear Muhlenberg
So loyal and brave and true,
There's nought can never sever for we stand
forever,
By the Cardinal and Gray.

(Tune: "Down the field.")

Rush, rush on down the field,
Fighting for Muhlenberg,
Break thru' old (— —),
Her strength to defy,
We'll give a long cheer for coach Bull's men,
We're here to win again,
(— —) may fight till they die,
But we will win,
(Rah, Rah, Rah, Rah, Rah, Rah.)

(Tune: "The Waning Honeymoon'.")

Muhlenberg! Muhlenberg!
Vict'ry must be ours to-day,
Cardinal and Gray must win,
Muhlenberg.
Better play wins the day,
Jump right in and win the fray,
Cardinal and Gray must wave,
Muhlenberg.

(Tune: "Rally 'Round the Flag.")

Oh! It's tackle hard and low, boys,
It's nail 'em where they stand,
Ray, Ray, Ray, for dear old Muhlenberg,
And its every play a gain, boys
The finest in the land,
Ray, Ray, Ray, for dear old Muhlenberg,
Muhlenberg, forever, hurrah, boys, hurrah.

CHORUS

We are the people, we are, yes, we are,
Then its rush them down the field, boys,
You're got them on the run,
Ray, Ray, Ray, for dear old Muhlenberg.

(Tune: "All join in on the chorus.")

All go in for a touch down
With a hip, hip, hip, hooray
Boys we're here to do it
And we'll win this game to-day.
For scrap and fight
With heart and soul
To land the ball beyond the goal
So all go in for a touch down
With a hip, hip, hip hoo-ray.

(Tune: "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp.")

Fight, fight, fight for dear old Muhlenberg
One more trophy to our fame
And we'll celebrate this night
Round the flaming bonfire bright
Sing glory, glory to our Muhlenberg.

(Tune: "Maryland.")

Hold them right there on the line
Varsity our Varsity
You're playing well, you're playing fine
Varsity, our Varsity
Attack with muscle and with brawn
Prevent the ball from going on,
Save the day and win renown,
Varsity, our Varsity.

(Tune: "Silver Bell.")

Another vict'ry our varsity
Plunge thru the line
Wasn't it fine to see the ball
Go a sailing over the field
Caught by a son of Mublenberg.

Thomas Kelly

ON Feb. 14th before a meeting of the Student Body it was officially announced that the Board of Trustees and the Athletic Association had decided upon a Coach for next year — a coach who will not only have charge of Football but also will act as Director of all Athletics at Muhlenberg.

Thomas Kelly, a graduate of Chicago University of the Class of 1909, played halfback on his Prep Team. He played the same position on his Freshmen Team and for the remaining three years at the University he starred at tackle on the Varsity. For two years he was selected as All Western Tackle.

Mr. Kelly's ability to coach cannot be questioned. Last Fall he coached the Freshmen Team of the University of Chicago, turning out the best Freshmen Team in the history of the institution. He also coached a City High School Team "with excellent success".

The following is a statement made by A. A. Staggs Professor of Physical Education at Chicago University and one of the greatest authorities on athletics in America to-day: "Mr. Kelly has a good knowledge of all positions on the team. His plan for the last three years has been to go into athletic work and he has, therefore, made a study of coaching with that end in view. He was a member of our Track Team and has a good knowledge of Track Athletics and Basket Ball. He is a man of good character and habits and of excellent appearance."

Track Season 1911

HIS phase of college athletics is comparatively new at Muhlenberg. The season of 1910 was practically the first year in track although representatives were sent to the "Penn Relays" and the Inter-Collegiate Meet at Harrisburg in 1908. Since that time the demand for a successful track team has steadily increased until in 1910 Muhlenberg had its first track team of any merit in the field. The dual meets with Delaware State College and Juniata demonstrated to the entire student body that our track team was capable of bringing home the laurels of victory from colleges having devoted a considerable number of years to this branch of college sport.

Scarcely had the Christmas holidays passed, when Coach Smith began to plan for this spring's track events. Although greatly hampered by lack of space in the gymnasium, the prospective candidates were instructed in the fundamentals of track activities. Thus indoor work had begun and the 'fellows' were performing various feats destined to develop them for whatever activity they were best fitted. It was only to the persistent training of some few "fellows" during the winter months that they had an advantage over others who were confident of making a place on the team. They were the ones who had developed endurance and were able to prove equal to the strenuousness of track.

Muhlenberg sent a very creditable team to the "Penn" Relays in April and was successful in taking first place in the one mile relay. In this meet we ran against colleges which have had teams at "Penn" for years but from the very start it was evident that none of the opposing contestants would be able to prevent our sturdy runners from taking first place. An enviable record was made and with the same team to send to "Penn" next year we may be confident that they will return with another banner.

The first dual meet of the season, Muhlenberg vs. Gettysburg, was one of the best ever witnessed upon our home field. All those contesting for Muhlenberg gave their best. The meet was spectacular from start to finish and many of the dashes were most closely contested. It was the last event which was to decide who should win and it was for the captain of the Gettysburg team to win the banner for his own college. This was the first time Gettysburg and Muhlenberg have met in any athletic events but from the evidence of good fellowship existing we know that these new relations will continue to exist.

Two more meets of note have been scheduled by our manager and there is no reason why our team should not return victorious from both meets. Delaware State College met defeat last year and they are doomed to the same misfortune again this year.

The entire student body is recognizing what our track team is accomplishing for the advancement of athletic activities. They appreciate the sacrifice which the members of the team are making in denying privileges which others enjoy. With the support of our Alumni and the student body, Muhlenberg will in future years have track teams able to compete with any in the country and it is only then that we shall have reached the zenith of our ambition.

Inter-Class Basketball Season

SOON after the gridiron had been deserted for the season of 1910 there came a call for candidates to uphold the honors of the various classes in basketball. This is something which tends to make the dreary hours of the winter months more interesting and at the same time fosters a just class rivalry. Owing to the various existing conditions we were unable to be represented by a college team but our Inter-Class Basketball series clearly demonstrated that many of those competing were of a high calibre and would have formed an excellent nucleus from which to pick a winning five. At the start of the season 1912 was rather disheartened since their former star combination had been shattered by the loss of some of their best men. But with the old class spirit "We can never be beat" Capt. Fink, Hummel, Shelly, S. Frederick and Rentschler started the ball along. The first few games clearly showed that Hummel and Rentschler were equal to the occasion and our team work was better than it had ever been. After winning the first few games we soon heard 1911 shout, "They are only making a phenomenal start, wait until we come back and show them that the winners of the 1909 cup can humiliate them." Even the Sophs made threats and assured us the cup would be theirs. Contest after contest only found us the possessors of a clean record. The Freshmen, who showed their inexperience in handling the treacherous sphere, and the Specials, whose football knowledge played a prominent part in their floor tactics, were unable to fathom the passes and shots of 1912's five. At times the scores were equally divided but soon we could see reliable Shelly snatch the ball and beautifully pass it to the speedy Fink who in turn slung it to Wopsel, and with one of his back-breaking shots, the Juniors could calm their trembling spirits. The entire series was characterized by a spirit which was a credit to every class and altho the Soph. and Senior teams displayed more experience and ability, nevertheless the season at no time grew lax in enthusiasm and interest.

Football "M" Men

Bixler, '13, one of the greatest football players Muhlenberg has ever had, can always be depended upon to keep the opponents from our goal. He is good at dodging and once in an open field there are few who can stop him. Bixler excelled especially in running back punts, tackling on secondary defence and in making quarterback runs. The punting of this sturdy quarterback is exceptionally good, his punts usually averaging fifty yards. With his experience, we expect him to play a much stronger game on next season's Varsity.

Brandt, '11, played his position at center, in a most creditable manner. He was always accurate and steady in passing the ball and by quick charging through the opposing defence he successfully blocked many kicks and recovered fumbles. He also broke up effectually many end runs. Muhlenberg will lose one of her best players in Brandt and it will be difficult to develop another who will play his position as consistently.

Brennan, '14, although it was the first year that he played on Muhlenberg's team, filled the position of fullback very capably. He rapidly developed into a line plunger and was certain to make the required distance on a third down, if called upon. Brennan also starred at left halfback. He was the tallest man on the team and because of this fact was successful in intercepting many forward passes.

Coleman, '12, fullback] and captain of the Varsity, is one of the most aggressive players in the back field. He is quick in plowing through the line and is certain to carry the "pigskin" for a gain. His tackling is sure and hard. Blood only seems to spurn Coleman on to more heroic efforts, neither will he leave a game for severe bruises. We hope that Coleman will again appear on the gridiron next season and play the best game of his college career.

Football "M" Men

Flexer, '14, although practically a novice, promises to develop into one of the best tackles Muhlenberg has ever had. He played a strong and fearless game at left tackle. With his physical resources, we hope to see Flexer make many deadly tackles behind the opponent's line by next season. His work on the offensive can also be improved. His playing against the Carlisle Indian 'Varsity was very creditable.

Kline, '11, because of his four years work on the Scrub is entitled to an "M," His work during the past season proved him to have the nerve to withstand his heavier opponents. Whenever "Bobbie" was sent into a game he always fought like a demon and prevented long gains through his side of the line. We can justly commend Kline for the spirit of loyalty he has displayed to the College and the team in helping to build up a strong 'Varsity.

Krauss, '13, always played a steady and consistent game, holding his own at right tackle. His work on the offensive and defensive was exceptionally good. His work at tackle was not sensational but he was always aggressive and opened wide gaps into the opponent's line. Krauss is certain to be one of next season's eleven and we can expect him to play a very strong game.

Nenow, '14, did very creditable work at left end. His playing is characterized as fast and scrappy. It was a frequent occurrence to see Nenow down the field recovering some punt or to get some forward pass. His work on the defensive is capable of improvement, but with another season's coaching and experience we expect 'Hap' to be winning fame on the gridiron for his Alma Mater.

Football "M" Men

Savacool, '12, has shown marked improvement over his previous season's work on the football field. He is brave and fearless and continues to play the game even though suffering from injuries. In breaking through the enemy's defense and tackling behind the line of scrimmage he figures especially. Next season will be his last on the Muhlenberg 'Varsity and we may expect him to play his best and to outclass his record at left guard.

Scott, '14, is one of our strongest back field men, having played both halfback positions. For a part of the season he was handicapped by a weak knee, which prevented him from playing his best at all times. In running with the ball and interfering, Scott has shown his abilities. His motto in a game is, "Do or Die," and his aggressiveness at all times is praiseworthy. Scott will very likely be one of our strong men next year.

Shilling, '14, played a very creditable game both at right end and at fullback, sharing with Brennan the fame of line-plunging. He plays a strong and clean game and is good at interfering for the runner with the ball. He is certain to find the openings through the line and to advance the ball for long gains. His work at end both on offensive and defensive was also very creditable. We regret that Shilling will not be seen in Muhlenberg football togs next season.

Skean, '14, is one of our most undaunted, and indomitable football warriors. Like Scott, he plays either halfback position. He is one of the best ground gainers on the team and a most deadly tackler. Skean never seeks glory on the football field for himself but is always willing to bear the brunt of the fray. He was incapacitated by injuries part of the season. He will again be one of our strong men next year.

Football "M" Men

Snyder, '12, the right guard, is one of the veteran players on the team. He is especially strong on the defensive and at no time can the opponents gain to advantage through him. His work on the offensive is equally creditable, where he shines especially in tearing holes into the line of the opposing team. He is a cool and steady player and with his past experience at Muhlenberg in football, we hope to see him as one of the strongest men in next year's regular line-up.

Track "M" Men

Bixler, '13, was successful in winning both his "M" in Football and Track. He was one of the successful contestants on Muhlenberg's Relay Team. He is exceptionally fast in the dashes and we are safe in predicting that he will take first place in some of the meets in which he may enter this spring. His work at the "Penn" relays and at the Harrisburg Inter-Collegiate meet is worthy of praise.

Kleckner, '10, won his College Track "M" by winning first place in both the 120-yard hurdles and the 220-yard hurdles. As a runner of the hurdles Kleckner was the best man Muhlenberg has ever had. In both of the meets with Delaware and Juniata Colleges he outdistanced his opposing men and not at any moment was first place for Muhlenberg endangered.

Track "M" Men

Reiter, '12, was successful in winning his "M" for taking first place in the two mile run in the Delaware-Muhlenberg Meet. The time being 11 minutes, 25 seconds. Reiter has endurance and by steady training and taking cross-country runs he shows up well in the events in which he participates. We hope that he may gain first place in both the one mile and two mile runs in all the meets in which he may enter this year.

Shelly, '12, was one of our men entered in the "Penn" Relays and also at Harrisburg. He won first place in the 100-yard dash in the Muhlenberg-Delaware meet. Although he did not win first place in the broad jump, nevertheless he made a very creditable showing. We know that Shelly will again help to win victories for Muhlenberg during this spring's track season.

Skean, '14, is Muhlenberg's best weight man. He won first place in the 16-pound shot put and also in the discus throw. His distance for the shot put in Muhlenberg's first Inter-Collegiate Meet was 35 feet, 3 inches and for the discus 107 feet 3 inches. He also won second place at the Inter-Collegiate Meet at Harrisburg in the shot put. This season we expect him to take first place at Harrisburg.

Toebke, '13, is without question the fastest man in track work at Muhlenberg. He won several first places in the Inter-Collegiate meets and was also on the "Penn" Relays. His care in training and gymnastic ability enables Toebke to be in prime condition at the opening of track season. He is a hard loser and will fight till the end rather than see his rivals on the track take first place. Toebke will again represent Muhlenberg in Track this season and we know that his work will help to bring success for his Alma Mater.

Wednesday Afternoon, June 15, 1910

At the annual meeting of the Trustees Major E. R. Artman, of Philadelphia, was elected President; Rev. W. D. C. Keiter, Secretary, and O. F. Bernheim, Treasurer. A formal vote of thanks was passed to Trustee Charles F. Mosser for his gift of $13,500 for the ground of the new Preparatory School.

Harry F. Bailey, A. B., instructor in the biological department since last year, was elected to a full professorship in that department, as his work has given eminent satisfaction.

C. C. Smith, an alumnus of the University of North Carolina, was elected instructor in English, and E. D. Alexander, of Syracuse University, succeeds Nils A. Olsen as instructor in history and sociology. The salary of Robert R. Fritsch, instructor in modern languages, was increased in recognition of his excellent work in this department, and a compliment paid to A. A. Kunkle, principal of Allentown Preparatory School, for his excellent work, in the shape of a resolution.

majority of the crowd. The Hippodrome, Blanche Ring and Mouquin's shared equal honors in the "raking in of cash." Two religiously inclined "students" walked up to St. Patrick's Cathedral and solemnly gazed at that edifice for several hours, receiving beyond a doubt, no end of spiritual consolation thereby.

When Old Metropolitan chimed out eight o'clock there was a general meeting of the "gents" at the St. Dennis for dinner; at that place it was discovered that Fink and "Blondy" Frederick had been "burning up the burg" for the last thirty-six hours; in fact it was rumored that they had just filled an important engagement with a flashing brunette in the fifth row of "The Chocolate Soldier" chorus.

Dinner passed by really well, considering Coleman's unalterable custom of eating, minus his coat; on no condition whatsoever could "Coley" be induced to appear at the table properly attired, and though he highly incensed the elite (Brobst, Schock, etc.), he made up for all digressions from decency by eating with a fork instead of a knife as is his invariable custom at college.

In the evening, the feverish anticipation of the glorious feed to be served at midnight, is

If Epicurus, the wise old sage, had gazed from the darkness of the past into the brightness of the eleventh day of March, Nineteen Hundred and Ten, he would have seen with his staring eyes, a sight fit for only such a god as he; that sight would have been the boys of 1912 at their Bacchanalian Soph. Banquet.

New York, better known as God's Country, had prepared with open arms to receive the "laddies," and when the "Special" struck Jersey City, the very ferries and steamers shrieked a noisy welcome.

New York may seem large to many people and wiley and wicked to most; but to Muhlenberg men—"nothing doing." The 1912 bunch had all "been there" and they "knew the ropes" (excepting, of course, Coleman and Sensbach, the former of whom lived in Hegins, Pa., and the latter in Brooklyn, N. Y., both of which are little, dried-out, backwoods towns).

The better part of the day still remained and Broadway became the "head-liner" for the said to have aroused within the breasts of some virtuous youths, a rankling passion for extravagance, which nothing could abate until Bennett led them to the Criterion, off Broadway on Thirty-Eighth, where divers exchanges of money allayed the fever.

And now, with every passing minute tensely straining the "eats-departments" of the Sophs, the boys meandered in groups toward the hotel.

When, at last, the head-waiter announced in dignified tones that "Dinner is served, sirs," there was a mighty heaving of sighs. (Whether of relief or of still further expectancy is not known.)

The sight which greeted the Sophomores on this particular occasion, begged description. If ever there was a disproof of that terse saying "Anticipation is Greater than Realization," this was it. The private dining-room of the establishment had been reserved and converted into a genuine Rathskellar; pennants and steins gave the room a collegiate tone; a special corps of waiters afforded a dark background to the vivid college colors (get that?) and the table set with all the care and skill of a professional caterer was a fairy-land of good-looking things. All the viands had been prepared for connoisseurs and the connoisseurs nodded their heads and said that it was good.

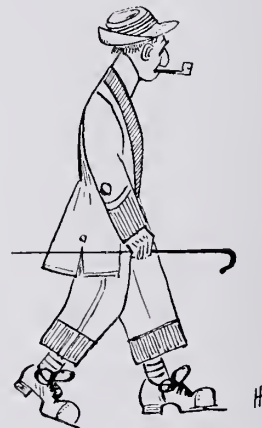

A very fetching incident happened in the early part of the banquet; Adam (A-dam) Miller could not understand why Lebanon Bologna was not on the menu; only after some of the "society lads" had informed "Satan" that such a dish did not usually figure in polite dinners, did he subside and even then he was heard to cuss the St. Dennis' Chef every other minute throughout the rest of the evening (and morning).

For several hours the Bacchantes waded through the prescribed courses and it was "a wee sma' hour" when the Toastmaster, V. L. Bennett, called for order.

It is an absolute fact that not one of the men called upon to answer to toasts, spoke coherently on the subject assigned him. All of the speakers seemed to labor under the delusion that Bennett had gotten the toasts mixed and had given wrong assignments; thus Heller spoke on "The Ladies" when Brossman should have done it; Shelly copped Snyder's ministerial speech and Snyder spoke on "The Banquet" and Fink, who had just scared a waiter into a dead faint by asking persistently for "one of Ed. (hic) Henning-r-r-s-s' Cook's," wobbled to his feet and instead of speaking on "The Future" gave a passionate talk of five minutes duration on the relative merits of "The Jolly Bachelors" and the diving (hic) Girls at the Hippodrome. The speech was a masterpiece at some places but Fink finally subsided in a gurgle that sounded like a moan of contentment, and forthwith fell asleep.

In order to relieve the dull and uninteresting speeches of Kline and Kleckner, Brossman was asked to recite "Beat Her With a Ball-bat! Yow!!! After listening to three verses of that rot the Class thought they'd rather listen to Kleckner after all.

In a short while, S. C. Frederick, "Wopse," who had saved a little money so that he might spend it when there was a crowd around, rose to his feet and bawled out an order for champagne. Now Charlie, who had never paid for any drinks other than bottled beer in his life, had a vague impression that champagne retailed at a dollar and a half a quart; so that when the waiter in all his dignity and condescension, loomed up before him with the bill,

"SOGGY" KLINE IS SEEN ON FIFTH AVENUE.

P.S. ALSO HEARD

Charlie was fain to grasp the rungs of his chair, and bite on his lips to see whether he was awake; after some secret conference with his cousin, "Blondy" Frederick, he reappeared with a five-spot and paid the score. Later he was insistent on going to Trinity Church in his evening dress coat and a flaming red tie. 'Nuf said.

During all of the speech-making, it was great fun to watch Reiter and Savacool, wrestle with their Camembert; due to home environment they had earnestly anticipated some nice dishes of "country cup-cheese" as a night-cap to the banquet; judge to their surprise, therefore, when the aristocratic Bents' crackers and Camembert was set before them. After Reiter had vainly tried to eat it with a knife and fork, Savacool wisely took an example and tried the trick with a teaspoon. Their evident discomfiture and misery was a real circus to the rest of the fellows.

An example of the quality of some business heads in the 1912 Class broke out a short time after Henninger's sermon on "Law;" R. Williard Baer, who never smoked anything but cigarettes, looked askance at the neatly tin-foiled Havana which the waiter had laid beside his plate; after a moment of thought he tore off the tinfoil wrapper, rolled it into little balls and while planning still further, playfully shot the leaden balls toward the shinny head of a waiter opposite; at last he decided; he sold the cigar to Clark Heller for fifteen cents and immediately ordered a Bronx cocktail. Bestowing a sly wink upon Keever who sat near him, he tossed the mellow liquid into his mouth with a smack as though intimating that he, at least, was satisfied with his investment.

And now "the wee sma' hours" began to grow into later hours and the drowsy banqueters at last made moves to adjourn. Before this, however, the Head Bell man had been admitted into the dining-room and one by one he had aided the disabled and weak-kneed "amateurs" to their rooms. An hour or two later, even the "Scouts" gave way to fatigue and reluctantly left the table with morose and melancholy songs of "Farewell, farewell, my own true love" and "Bring back my Bunny to me, to me!"

What numerous trips the poor bell-hops made for the rest of the morning, can better be imagined than written; for hours in a stretch the musical tinkling of ice in metal pitchers, could be heard in all of the halls where the jolly banqueters were trying to satiate their throats; and the soft splashing of shower baths drove sleep from those who could have reposed their heads in slumber.

And thus came to an end the biggest day that the 1912 Class has ever enjoyed in a body, it was a fitting ceremony over the dying custom of allowing Soph Banquets in cities away from our college town; for 1912 was the last class to be allowed this privilege and realizing the importance of the Faculty ruling, the New York banquet was buried beneath a splendid monument of friendliness, good fellowship and college loyalty.

The Myrmidon, The Lamb and the Devouring Lions.

A Tragedy in Two Acts.

ACT I.

Scene—A cold and stormy night on the north side of Berks Hall. Crowd of ruthless Myrmidons lurking in the gray background. Enter from the dorms. a group of Myrmidons with a "Lamb led to the shearers."

Lamb—B-r-r-r-r. Let me go! I'm only a poor little worthless fool. What good will it do you to torment me?

Myrmidon Guards—(Nothing at all.)

Lamb—O, you needn't think I don't know you. Boo-hoo. You needn't be so quiet. Boo-hoo—boo-hoo—boo-hoo.

Myrm. (aside)—We hate to do this, but the papers are going to call us "Myrmidons," and we must live up to the title.

(Enter dignified Senior)

Dig. Sen.—You had better be careful how you treat that child, or the S. P. C. C. will be after you.

Myrm.—O, we're just taking this unsophisticated Lamb out to Cetronia, so that he may learn all the arts and crafts of promenading.

Dig. Sen. (assuming a beatific air)—Then it's none of my affair. (Nevertheless, follows to share the enjoyment of the promenade.)

(Enter more Lambs. Also more escorting Myrmidons. Shivers. Sobs. Curses. Confusion. Pandemonium.)

Procession starts westward and, as the assembly is lost in the thickening darkness, lights gradually fade from all the windows of the dorms. and the dorms. settle into the usual (?) quiet of two A. M.

CURTAIN.

ACT II.

Scene—Interior of Faculty Room. Walls black, with a few choice paintings showing the likenesses of the patron saints of the Faculty: Robespierre, Danton and Nero, together with Herod and Nicholas. On the table is laid the fate of each of the students, and the members of the Faculty are ravenously eyeing the feast and wondering how many will fall to their lot.

Time: The morning after. (Pardon us! This is no allusion to the habits of the members of the Faculty. We mean the day after the Lambs had been given their matriculation into their extra-classroom course.)

At the rise of the curtain are seen about the board, the Faculty.

Dr. H.—Welcome, gentlemen! To-day we will have a sumptuous feast instead of the mere general remarks, which were all I could offer you last week. The Sophomores (so the Myrmidons were known at that time among the Faculty) have led a few of the Freshmen (sometimes called Lambs) into the country and there have given them a sartorial treat, together with an interesting lecture on "Iodine as a Cosmetic, and how it may distinguish Freshmen from men." What shall we do to the Sophomores?

Prof. O.—Give them the glad hand and call them down for not showing the whole Freshmen class a good time.

(Roar of disapproval rises like a mountain torrent and threatens to engulf the Swede in its mighty branches.)

Dr. W.—I think that, if the rest do not consider it too severe, we should reprimand them and cut all their marks down to B plus.

(Another mighty outburst of signs of disapproval.)

Prof. O.—As my dear Professor So-and-so used to say whenever such—(Shouts of "Hang So-and-so!" "Cut it out!" etc.)

Dr. H.—Perhaps we had better take the men up separately and then see the calibre of the men with whom we have to deal.

Dr. E.—First we have Bennett.

Dr. H.—This is a good time to get rid of him. He is a heretic. His father is a Methodist minister.

Dr. E.—Brobst.

Prof. E.—Brobst is quite attractive. He should be kept here by all means. In fact he looks very much like myself.

Prof. F.—Brobst is a fine fellow. He sings on a church choir.

Dr. E.—Brossman.

(Whole assemblage cringes before the utterance of this mighty name, but gather together for a mighty—

Chorus—"OUT WITH HIM!"

Dr. E.—Mr. Coleman, from Hegins, Pa.

Prof. R.—He must be kept here. We need him for football.

Duet of Profs. (cuttingly)—"Do you think that this College is run for the sake of athletics?"

Prof. R.—No! That's the fault I find with it. It ought to be.

Dr. H. (excitedly)—Gentlemen! Gentlemen! Before we do anything we must mend an awful omission. In opening our discussion we failed to mention that this is a Christian institution. Now, therefore, I say that while such a disgraceful occurrence might have been expected at some mere secular institution, it is terrible at a Christian institution such as this. In regard to this man Coleman, I think that he is a Socialist, and, as we cannot answer his arguments, the best thing to do, in order to efface them, is to rid ourselves of the source.

Prof. F.—That means that I lose my German scholar next best to Frederick.

Dr. E.—Fink.

Prof. O.—I'll bet my hat that Fink wasn't in this rough house. (Looks of consternation.) Well, he never came to college for my interesting jectures; so why should he come for a mere hazing?

Dr. E.—It doesn't make any difference what we do to Fink. If we expel him, he won't attend college, and if we retain him, he won't attend, anyway.

Prof. F.—I don't think Fink the right kind of man to be connected with a Christian institution. Archangel Wunder has informed me that once he heard Fink saying "Darn!" right out loud, instead of cursing under his breath as all we religious people do.

(All Profs. show visible signs of emotion. Some hide their heads under the table. It surely can't be that they are laughing?)

Dr. E.—Now we come to the Fredericks.

Prof. S.—Should not we take them up separately?

Dr. E.—We will decide what to do with Herbert, and, of course, Wop-sel will say, "I'll do the same."

Prof. F.—I believe that both are prominent among the younger members of the Lutheran Church.

Prof. S. (brutally)—Suspend them, and let them do all the Church work they want to do,

Dr. E.—Henninger.

Prof. O.—By all means, fire him! A man with his æsthetic shortcomings does not deserve to be a college student. In fact, it's dead sure that he prefers the study of the languages to my history lectures.

Dr. E., Dr. W., and Prof. H.—Why shouldn't he?

(War clouds hover over meeting.)

Dr. B.—Gentlemen, why tear each other apart when we have such a nice, juicy aggregation of students to rend and devour?

Dr. E.—Henry!

Dr. H.—Henry, also, would not mind suspension. As it is, he goes home to spend Sunday on Thursday morning, and comes back to college on Tuesday afternoon. The only difference would be that he couldn't attend Wednesday classes.

Dr. E.—Hummel!

Dr. H.—Another week-ender.

Dr. E.—I found him a weak beginner, also, when he entered the Freshman class.

(Usual uproarious laughter accompanies these outbursts of wit.)

Dr. E.—Keever!

Dr. H.—Minister's son.

Dr. E.—Kleckner!

Prof. S. (enraptured)—Gentlemen, we must proceed very carefully in this case. Mr. Kleckner is highly accomplished. He knows all the rules of oratory, word for word, and speaks even the subject or question for debate with an effusion of oratory.

Dr. E.—I will tell you a funny incident that happened— (at this point the Secretary left the room and returned after the funny incident had been told.)

Dr. E.—Kline!

Dr. H.—No, we daren't suspend Kline. We must have someone attending chapel.

Prof. F.—I understand, also, that Mr. Kline is prominent in church work in Quakertown.

(Upon hearing this news, Prof. O. falls over in a fit.)

Dr. E.—Kresge!

Dr. H.—We will have to keep Kresge also; for if we do not have some signs of leisure about the college we will be accused of being imbued with haste, unbecoming a classical institution.

Dr. E.—Leiby! He's only a scientific student. It doesn't make any difference what we do with him.

Dr. E.—Miller!

Prof. Q.—He is a most lustiest argumentationer. I have told him that he could cut it out.

Prof. H.—We should be very careful with Miller. He is to be married soon, [Editor's note: How fickle are the affairs of men—and women.] and he will have enough trouble without any suspension to bother with.

Dr. E.—Reiter!

Dr. H.—I am still thinking of the interests of the various branches of college life. We must have a man to dress the part of a poster college student, and he is the only man who is shameless enough to wear excessively loud clothes.

Dr. E.—Savacool!

Prof. R.—Foot ball!

Prof. F.—Missionary Society!

Dr. E.—Shelly!

Dr. H.—We must be very careful how we dispense with the College curls. Furthermore, he is very well known in West Chester, and may bring students from there.

Prof. H.—His influence at W. C. S. N. S. won't help us until we open a co-educational institution.

Dr. E.—Schock!

[Many brilliant witticisms passed upon the name, which witticisms we will not record.]

Dr. H.—How many social lions have we at the institution?

Dr. E. (pulling out a volume entitled "Outside Activities of Students. Also their Accomplishments in Parlor Games")—Counting Brossman, who calls upon three or four girls every evening, as two, we have at present 110.

Prof. O.—Does that include the Faculty?

Dr. E.—No, indeed! With Profs. E. and S. the number is increased to 112; and taking Prof. H. and yourself into consideration, there are about 150.

Dr. E.—Snyder! This is quite a large problem we are now called upon to solve.

Dr. H.—We must handle Snyder with kid gloves. He is going to be elected Editor of the 1912 CIARLA, and he will, through its pages, have an awful revenge for anything we do to him.

[Note.—We leave it to the reader to find out how they did finally treat Snyder. In fact it's hard to treat Snyder at all; for if he once gets started, there is no stopping him.]

Dr. E.—Stump!

Prof. O. (vindictively)—Let him speak for himself. (Which, of course, is an absolute impossibility.)

Dr. E.—Troxell!

(PANDEMONIUM)

Prof. F.—I don't think that there is any doubt about him. Why, he teaches a German Bible Class. Besides, he translates German so fluently. He fairly rides over the lesson.

Dr. E. and Prof. H. (forcefully). Yes, with the accent on the "rides."

Dr. B.—But isn't he hounded by some disgraceful occurrence involving $170.22?

[Here Dr. E., who is interested in politics, attempted to leave the room, but was restrained so doing.]

Dr. H.—Well, you see it was this way: What he did for the money I don't know. (The fact of the matter is, that he did nothing, as usual.) But as long as he stays our taxes are mysteriously lowered, so that, anything to the contrary notwithstanding, he must be kept.

Dr. E.—Waidelich!

Dr. H.—His parents are anxious to have him home, that I think it would be a positive blessing to suspend him.

Dr. E.—Wertz!

Prof. S.—Who is this man Wertz?

Dr. E. (looking up the annals)—He is a handsome blonde, with pretensions to vocal ability. He is an ardent fusser.

Dr. H.—We are now open to discussion.

Prof. O.—We ought to do something that will scare the liver out of them.

[Frowns from the other Profs.]

Dr. H.—Prof. O., I wish you would remember that this is not a gathering of Western cowboys planning to shoot up a saloon on Saturday night, but an aggregation of College Professors, who are supposed to have had an adequate training in the English language; and I wish that you would mould your language accordingly.

Dr. E.—Let us call in one of the victims and hear about the matter. Call Keim and Raker in.

[Two beings of human form enter. They have that part of their head which is supposed to be covered by a "dinkus cap," devoid of hair, and over their foreheads is painted the suggestive title, "FRESH B."]

[Several Profs. look serious for a moment, take another glance, and put a paper before their faces. As soon as all the Profs. have had a look]—

Dr. H.—Take them out!

[And departing, leave behind them such a roar of laughter as seems unquenchable.]

Dr. B. (first to regain composure)—I think that the whole Sophomore class should be expelled, and the victims urged to start criminal prosecution.

Prof. S. (cynically)—I can tell you what would be an awful punishment. Increase their hours for religion for the rest of the year.

Prof. R.—Why not compel them all to refrain from athletics for the rest of the year. That would be about the worst that could happen to them.

[Several Profs. reach for heavy books, with which to show their approval of Prof. R.'s remarks.]

Prof. F.—Suppose we forbid them attendance at chapel for a month or two. That would be terrible!

Dr. H.—Well, gentlemen, I think suspension would be the proper thing.

Dr. B.—I'm sorry that it isn't September, instead of October. In that case we could suspend them for nine months, while now we have only eight months left in this year.

Prof. E.—I move that all the Sophomores be suspended for two weeks.

Prof. R.—But that would keep them from football!

Prof. H.—We might as well shut down the college as dismiss this class.

Prof. O.—I'll eat my hat if these fellows should not be shipped.

[Usual results.]

Dr. H.—I think they should be suspended for the period of two weeks; but let us suspend them for a month. I know the father of one of them very well. I'll see him and have him raise an objection, so that, as a great concession, we will allow them to return in two weeks.

Prof. O.—You needn't get the Faculty in a hole by getting in with one of their old men. If we fire them, the old boys are sure to raise Cain anyway. (Vide supra.)

[The likenesses of Robespierre and Danton leave their frames and bow in submission.]

Spirits—We bow to you, O Muhlenberg Faculty. At nonchalantly cutting off the heads of students, you have us beaten to a frazzle.

Spirit of Nicholas (descending and bowing)—And I am overshadowed by your persecutions.

Spirit of Nero (acting as Nicholas)—I used to put innocents before lions; but you bring them before lions and then act the part of the lions. I bow to you.

Herod (unbending)—I only will bow to the Sophomores. They beat me in cutting off infants in their prime.

[With this majestic tableau, the tragedy is ended.]

CURTAIN

How to Bluff the Profs.

DR. HAAS:—Look very wise, say “yes” to everything and ask, “Say, Dr., how would it be in this case?”

DR. ETTINGER :—Ask him questions which you are sure he can answer and with which he is in full sympathy ; give a smile of approval to his philosophy and uphold the Republican party in general.

DR. WACKERNAGEL :—Praise the Germans at the expense of the English.

PROF. HORN:—Study real hard but work the “pony” to its maximum endurance. Troxell vouches for this statement.

MR. BAILEY:—It can't be done.

PROF. FRITSCH:—Talk about missionary or religious subjects in general.

MR. ELLIS:—It is a puzzle because he is too well read on his subjects.

MR. ALEXANDER:—Give a learned dissertation on the Shakespearean treatment of female character.

DR. BAUMAN:—Let the Dr. proceed with the sentence but ring in the last syllable of the last word with due emphasis.

PROF. REESE:—Talk football and athletics, also be a student.

MR. ROSS:—Any old thing.

Census of the Class of 1912

WHO IS THE HANDSOMEST MAN IN 1912?

Waidelich won first place because of his well-known reputation. Shelly and Reiter tied for second place, and after protracted discussion, decided to toss up for the place. Shelly looked at his curls, and threw his coin, with the result that he won by a hair. Henninger, Kline and Schock each received one vote—the vote which they had cast for themselves.

WHO IS THE BEST POLITICIAN?

Miller had a walk-a-way in this election. Brossman and Henninger were also mentioned as exponents of the machine system.

WHO IS THE GREATEST GRIND?

Berks Hall threw its entire vote for Coleman. Rhoads Hall voted for Fink. Coleman easily won the contest.

WHO IS THE BIGGEST BLUFFER?

Hummel won by one vote over Kuder. Reiter should have first place, but his failure to qualify shows his adroitness as a bluffer and the art to which he has reduced it.

WHO IS THE MOST RELIGIOUS?

Waidelich, because he attends the mid-week church services and after church visits the Orpheum.

WHAT IS THE GREATEST BENEFIT YOU ARE DERIVING FROM COLLEGE?

Keever in an abstract moment says, "A taste for research." Troxell says, "To successfully 'pony' languages." Brossman unromantically says, "The shower baths." Fink pathetically exclaims, "To cut chapel." Savacool truthfully says, "To regain lost sleep."

WHAT IS YOUR IDEA OF HAPPINESS?

The ideas were scattered and none were satisfactory to a majority.

Kuder says, "Home, Sweet Home."

Miller says, "To receive a check from home."

Brobst says, "To let the girl sing."

Snyder says, Muhlenberg 55, Franklin and Marshall 0."

WHAT IS YOUR IDEA OF MISERY?

Leaving college to take up the White Man's Burden was the unanimous opinion.

Wertz says, "Prof. Alexander."

Krause says, "Hell."

Kline says, "Leading a Reformer's Life."

Stump says, "To Run."

WERE YOU EVER IN LOVE?

Eighty per cent. say they have been. Kleckner says he has had an itching around the heart. Savacool says he lives in it. Brobst confessed that he has been in love ever since he has been at College and Fink says he has been in the President's office.

HAVE YOU EVER BEEN SUSPENDED?

Nineteen-twelve holds a record on this point. The entire class, with the exception of two, have taken enforced vacations. Ask any one of the Culprit's Club, headed by the arch offenders Leiby and Wertz.

WHICH IS THE BIGGEST CINCH?

The Philosophicals voted for the Classics and the Classics and the other departments combined to give the Philosophicals this distinction. Miller says it is a case of rank jealousy.

WHO IS THE MOST TALKATIVE?

S. C. Frederick's automatic human tongue prevented any guessing as to the result of this question. H. B. Frederick did his best to equal "Wopsel" but he might as well have tried to stay the Niagara Falls.

WHAT IS YOUR GREATEST AMBITION?

This affords great chance for diversity of opinion.

A few opinions follow :

Troxell—"To become an athlete."

Schock—"To be a ladies' man."

Kuder—"To surpass the most eminent musicians."

Coleman—"To be a leader of the Socialists."

WHO IS THE SLOWEST?

Stump—first, last and all the time.

HORSES, PONIES AND JACKS AT EASY PRICES

The following lot of fine New York thoroughbreds, for private sale, just received from the well-known stables of Arthur Hinds:

TACITUS: Good brood mare, dam of "come people over in Jersey." "N-o-w, gentlemen, w-e w-i-l-l h-a-v-e a l-i-t-t-le m-o-r-e L-A-T-I-N" and other well known colts.

LIVY: Latin Jack; good draught animal, has no tricks; will carry from four to eight Sophomores with ease; will sell cheap on account of blindness, which sometimes causes him to stumble.

HORACE: Chestnut gelding; has record of 2.06. Driven by the noted jockeys, Troxell, Kuder, Weber and Meck.

PLAUTUS: Handsome picked trotter, guaranteed to be so speedy that Georgie will certainly resort to a long and time-killing discourse on Political Graft or on the Philosophy of Cicero in order to avoid further contact with this racy trotter.

ILIAD: Classic Greek pacer; reared in Charleston by the well known horse breaker, "Bobbie." A splendid bargain,

The Student Council

OR

The Story of the Empty Beer Keg

Once upon a midnight dreary, as the student, study weary,
    Pondered o'er the problems of the jack pot, ace or four.
Suddenly there came a rapping, came a solemncholy tapping
    And our blood, the horror sapping
    Curdled into clotted gore.
    'Twas the Student Council gathering for their ghoulish work of gore
    For their deeds of blood galore.

Potent, grave and revered segnors, called to judge the final demeanors
Of the graceless mortals who boast not of their wealth of lore.
    What an awful admiration we accord the domination
    Of their much exalted station
    With the Freshman's fate in store.
Dread tribunal, thrice majestic, consummate, conceited bore.

May the Freshmen use two toothpicks, at a time, demands in sooth quick
    Action by those gifted judges, analytic to the core.
Suddenly the spell is broken, is the judgment to be spoken?
    And we breathless wait for token, careless of the suit or four.

They must have some brilliant notion, for the room is in commotion
Oh, harsh fate, can that be real! how short lived our life's ideals,
From the room a whisper stealing, strikes us with an anguished feeling,
    For our idol is no more.

Charley Grant, in rancous mutter, "Donnervetter, tripe and splutter Play the ace, you great grandmother, only that, I ask no more,"
And then Baringer short answered, (oh great grief, a pure soul cancered)
    (Down our spine the cold chills ran)
Here's the ace, and there's the bower, take a drink and pass the can."

It is Rumored

“Bobbie ”Horn will be married in church either before or after July 4th.

Muhlenberg will have a gymnasium.

There will be revisions in the faculty.

“Pop ” Reese will quit the weed.

Rev. Mickler will never again be one of the “boys.”

That chapel attendance will be compulsory for the professors.

That Dr. Haas will never again try a corner on Cuban cigars.

That Dr. Bauman will place his tricycle in the the college trophy room.

That Prof. Fritch intends wearing linen collars.

That Dr. Ettinger “cracked ” a new joke.

That the trolley line will pass Muhlenberg.

That Eberts, ’11, intends to become an assistant paving contractor at Reading.

That Muhlenberg Lake will be a reality.

NINETEEN THIRTEEN.

(NOTE.—One of the editors, upon being asked to do some research work and unearth the greatest joke that had happened in college for the last twenty years, responded as above. We know that all classes have their favorite jokes, but we believe that there has not been a more foolish joke in college than the class of Nineteen Thirteen.)

At this time we wish to express our appreciation of the kind thoughtful-ness of our next door neighbor in allowing the boys to build a road through his field. Few business men are as kindhearted and in appreciation of this, the boys built the road absolutely free of charge. To mark the road, the owner placed at either end several wooden monuments, which were, however, taken away by the high wind and it is hoped that, next winter, he will establish marble shafts to the honor of his dear friends at college.

GENERAL.

The Bohemian Idealists have received from the Heraldic College, of Oxford, the permission to use an acknowledged coat of arms. It is rumored that the shield will display a glass of beer "couchant" on a bar sinister.

SOCIALIST ORGANIZATION.

The Order of the Red Flag has organized a chapter at Muhlenberg and is at present in a very flourishing condition. Exultant at the ease with which a member of the order has captured one of the high denominational colleges, one other member of the society is training to besiege another high college of the same faith. At the first meeting the following officers were elected: Most High Hurler of the Grand Bomb, Charles L. Grant; Most Noble Exemplifier of the Dictrines of the Society, Otto C. Janke; and Most Noble Brains and Defender of the Faith, C. C. Coleman. Two members of the faculty, one very high in the order of worthies, have already been induced to enter the club. All members of the clan are pledged to oppose law and order and bind themselves to wear red socks. At the last meeting a contest was held in bomb-throwing; Janke won, hitting three out of five, clay Kings and four Grand Dukes, together with several capitalists and several socialists who differ by a hair's breadth in belief. Coleman read a very entertaining paper on the "Relative Mystification of the Lectures of E. D. Ross and the Writings of Karl Marx." He gave the laurels, for sub-the concealment of thought, to Marx. The club is progressing rapidly and hopes next year to have some brother in the Red Flag (who has spent maybe three months in a real Federal prison) come to Muhlenberg and stand at the head of their order. Although their missionary activity has been hampered by the authorities, still the club is making progress.

A SUGGESTION.

The following notice was posted on the bulletin board by W. W. Brossman for Freshmen just furnishing their rooms: "I have the following infallible method of securing cushions for my room. Meet the young lady; call at her home once; one trip to the Pergola and a Muhlenberg pennant. Thus far I have succeeded in procuring twenty cushions."

NEWS FROM THE FARM.

John Guth, one of our gentlemen visitors, is reported to have started spring ploughing on his father's farm at Guthsville. He is working in a logical manner, at the psychological moment and with due religious deliberation.

Much praise is due to Charles L. Grant in allowing Dr. Haas also to have some jurisdiction about the college.

!!!ALUMINUM!!!

Read this from a Muhlenberg man:

"Nothing like selling Aluminum. Excellent training for the body, mind and spirit. Were it not for the exercise I got evading irate women, I would never have been a star at sprinting. I am confident that I can now lie better than anyone who has never had the experience of selling aluminum, barring possibly Dr. Cook and the authors of National Platforms. Aluminum selling also develops patience. After a summer of Aluminum, I can stand for almost anything."

The districts of North Whitehall and Cementon are still open. Apply early. A limited number signed up. Only as many as apply.

N. B.—One cent per word paid for letters in the same strain as the above.

"Now that the football season is over and we have come back from our Christmas vacation and we have gone through our basket ball season, we would get down to study were it not for track, spring fever and the proximity of Commencement."—Henninger, May 10, 1911.

The Egyptians may boast of a Sphinx, which could ask a single question which men could not answer, but Muhlenberg claims a much higher honor, in possessing Henry Fry, who can ask any number of questions which Solomon himself would not have been able to answer.

DOCTOR, LAWYER, MERCHANT, CHIEF, PROBABLY THIEF!

"Kid" Miller has at last enlightened us as to his future occupation. When last questioned on the matter he responded oracularly, "Something." That, at least, will be an improvement over his present occupation.

---

Sh-s-s-s-sh. A pretty piece of spicy scandal! HIS MASTERFUL PREPONDERANCE, Philip S. Baringer, is reported to have indulged in cheer practice the other day.

CLUB DOINGS.

REPUBLICAN CLUB.

On March 1, a Republican Club was formed at Muhlenberg College. With true Republican extravagance, they promptly elected Troxell, '12, Treasurer, and he has applied to Penrose for an plums that may be unharvested at this time of the year. Mr. Penrose, however, upon finding that the club contained but one voter, refused the petition. From the personnel of the officers we judge that the club will be a factor in uniting the Republican National organization. Freshman Moore, Pres., is a Keystoner, while V. P. Kleckner and Treasurer Troxell are hide-bound Republicans. The topic under discussion at the last meeting was "The Relation between the Ballot Box and the Stage." Next week the topic for discussion will be "Evasions, Legal and Illegal to the Law Requiring Publication of Campaign Expenditures, or Can Booze be a Liquidation for Standing Debts?"

GLEE CLUB.

Wm. E. Brandt, we are informed, made a vain attempt to rescue the black cat in the Act of Grand Opera when the Glee Club was at Wilkes-Barre. This was his sixth unsuccessful trial. Let us hope that "Bill" will have a chance to become a hero at the next concert.

Our Debonair friend, H. B. Frederick, has been suffering from acute morbus amoris ever since Feb. 11 (Catasauqua Glee Club trip). He has a haggard look and an appearance of severe suffering that fills the hearts of his old friends with pity. Under Deacon Fry's tactful tutelage we expect a speedy alleviation of his sufferings.

Deacon Fry, the questioning kid, to Butz:—"Say, Arthur what is this train whistling for?"

Butz:—"Just for fun." And the deacon believed it.

Weber, at Albany:—"Gee, I feel springy to-night. I put on two union suits of spring underwear."

Waidelich, on seeing the water of the Hudson River for the first time, soliquizing:—"I shouldn't wonder but that those waters were off the coast of Spain at one time."

SOCIETY HAPPENINGS.

"Pud" Reno, '13, has been finally dropped from the Fusser's Club. While he was progressing in the work of the club, Reno has committed the awful error of being seen with the same young lady two night in succession.

The engagement of Lucy B., the daughter of Oscar and Matilda Shale, of Utica, N. Y., to Porfino Janke has just been announced. The bride-to-be is an accomplished young lady and the daughter of the proprietor of Utica's mammoth gas establishment. The prospective bridegroom is the only son of Jenks Janke, of Coaldale.

Wolper has just announced that he has not yet become reconciled to Allentown. No doubt by the time he receives his degree he will have a different story to relate.

"The Miller, Schlegel, Frederick Combination of Fussers" have dissolved partnership. Schlegel, when not gathering "daisies," contents himself by staying within the city of Allentown. The other two are, however, frequently reported to have been along Cattie's banks with baited hook and line.

SOCIETY RUMORS.

It has been rumored that David has applied for a divorce from Wacker. The only cause for such an appeal seems to be that neither cares to keep their room tidy.

Peter Dekoskal announces that his roommate, Savericallio, has decided to take up a special study of aesthetics during his Senior year. This will necessitate his going home every Friday until Monday morning. During this absence Dekoskal intends to spend the time in solitude.

FACULTY NOTES.

Department of Matrimonial Engineering.

The Board of Trustees, after due deliberation and various requests from Professors Alexander and Horn, will add a course on Matrimony to the college curriculum. Some of the Juniors and Seniors who are best versed in the new engineering course will aid in the work of instruction.

Courses required for Degree of M. A. or P. A.:

Astronomy A.—"Star Gazing," Paul Wolper. City Park. Required of all Freshmen.

English A.—"Study of Allentown Proposals," Raymond Ammarell. Wednesday, 7.30 P. M.

Elocution A.—"Getting Dates on the Telephone," A. F. Miller, A. T. O. House, any P. M.

Chemistry B.—"Hygienic Osculation," Fred. Wunder. Hours not yet arranged.

Journalism A.—"Printing Kisses," Francis Smith. 9.00 P. M. (nightly).

Physical Culture A.—"How to Break Away at 1 A. M.," Charles Grant. Required of all Sophomores.

Physics B.—"Harmless Stinging," W. W. Brossman.

Mathematics A.—"Theory of Limits," Joseph M. Kuder. A. T. House, Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Mathematics B. — "Circumscribing Waists," Harvey Miller. Daily, 1 P. M.

Philosophy B.—"How to be Happy Without a Girl," Charles Coleman. Berks Hall, Friday, 10 A. M.

PRESIDENT'S OFFICE.

Muhlenberg College, May 15.

Special Announcement.

Contrary to established custom, the Junior class will have a recitation in Religion at their regular hour, Thurs.

at ten o'clock. The class will take up the chapter in Bible Literature, following the chapter taken up at the last recitation, Dec. 1, 1910.

A MERE QUIZ BY PROF. ROSS.

1. Describe in detail the events of the world history from the time of Adam to the present day.
2. Outline fully the foundation of feudalism, tracing its beginnings from the Israelitic government.
3. Give full account of the public and private acts of Charlemagne from the years 795 to 816. (This must not be more minute than a daily account.)
4. Give an account of the Roman Empire as portrayed in Gibbon's Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire.
5. Give brief account of the history reference books in the Muhlenberg library and give account of the information contained in the several volumes.

Above all things, don't generalize on these specific questions.

If the hour is not yet up when you have answered all these questions, give an account of the benefits to be obtained from a course in this study.

A COLLEGE VISITOR.

A parson once, the story goes,
All dressed up in his Sunday clothes,
Ont Monday morn, with book and rod,
Out to college gaily trod.
'Twas Doc. Michler—"one of the boys."

The boys got gleeful—all boys do—
And almost knocked his study door through.

Then they spouted with a hose,
A lot of water up Michler's nose,
But Michler was "one of the boys."

Ink bottles they also had—
'Twas plain that Michler was very mad—

But for the religion in his heart
He'd have torn their measly joints apart.

But he was Michler—"one of the boys."

At last he bade us all adieu.
He was sorry and we were too.
And when he went back home again,
All the boys sang a farewell refrain
To Reverend Michler—"one of the boys."

MUHLENBERG COMING UP IN THE WORLD.

Shamokin, Pa., Sept. 9, '11.
Registrar, Muhlenberg College,
Allentown, Pa.

Dear Sir:

I am sending to college for the second year my son Conrad X. Y. Z. Raker. I believe that his cousin Schlegel is accompanying him. I want to give your school the highest recommendation. It has been the best thing that might have happened to the boys. To be sure, they didn't absorb much Mathematics. I can hardly say that they studied much Latin. I don't believe that they have mastered any English since at College. It would be an exaggeration to say that they have accomplished anything in their German and French courses. But loaf! They are the most nonchalant and picturesque loafers that I have seen in a long time. It is a positive pleasure to see "Con." let a cigarette hang on the very edge of his lip and still hold on to it. Your adjunct course in aesthetics has also aided the boys greatly. I believe that none in Shamokin can tie a tie so nicely as the boys. And sociology! This course (which also, I believe, is an adjunct course) must be great. My son can talk for three hours in a stretch and actually in that time he will not have delivered himself of a single thought. Can any school show better development? With this glowing recommendation, I need not mention the beautiful smile my son has cultivated, nor his contempt for mere labor, nor many of the other benefits he has derived from his college course.

Yours truly,

MR. RAKER.

THERE are still some folks who do not realize how big we are. We do not say this in a braggadocio manner, but more in an informatory way. Our front on Hamilton street only gives you a hint of the size. The depth of our building reveals spacious departments and rooms after another completely stocked with the most representative makes the world produces.

Our repair department is the talk of the State, for we repair work of every sort and give excellent service—for we do a job right. For your own satisfaction, come in some time and go over the various floors. I know you will be surprised and astonished. I want you to know and remember there is one music house in Allentown that is fully equipped and able to supply your musical wants.
